Haley, Lefko Speak to Carter

Greg Haley, past president of SAP Association and member of District 12 Community Council, was a member of the 8-member panel who spoke to President Carter in a televised hour-long program during the President's recent visit to St.

Paul. Haley is serving on the Mayor's Energy Policy Committee.

Haley explained to the President that, "Our District Plan has been developed over a three-year period by District 12 residents and businessmen. The city will use it and other district plans to help formulate a citywide plan.

"The principal element of our plan is the proposed residential and industrial development of the vacant and underutilized railroad land that bisects our district. New housing would fill a desperate need for University students and provide homes for families who prefer to live and work in the city.

"Industrial development would help stem the flow of companies to suburban industrial parks, decrease employee commuting time and provide a centralized distribution point for goods and services.

Como Almost Ready

By Mollie Hoben

When school opens September 4, the new Como Senior High School will be ready for an expected 1320 students—almost.

The former junior high school building has been undergoing extensive remodeling and expansion in preparation for the large senior high population, but some of the work will not be completed when school begins.

According to Principal William Funk, a number of factors, especially a "shortage of skilled workmen," has delayed completion of 13 classrooms, the administrative offices, and the swimming pool.

Of most concern to Funk is the unavailability until November 1 of the 13 classrooms for science, business, and languages. "It will hurt our scholastic program I'm sure," Funk said, "but we might as well accept it, because there's nothing we can do."

Student Council co-president Jan Bienhoff assessed the impact of the space shortage. "It will be a problem, but I don't think it will be a big problem—the students can handle it."

The shortage of classroom space will mean that some rooms will have two classes assigned to them. "We've tried to match classes so that team teaching can occur," Funk said.

Despite this difficulty, Funk is enthusiastic about the program at the new school. "When the plant is ready we'll have one of the best high schools in the area."

Funk points to several factors: a curriculum that will allow

"every student to be challenged as much as he wants," an "excellent staff," and the lowest student/faculty ratio among St. Paul high schools (25.8/1).

As strengths of the curriculum, Funk identifies the following.

A range of classes in all disciplines: there will be classes to "challenge the very bright student as well as remedial classes in all areas. Two honors classes will be offered: humanities, combining English and social studies in a two-hour block, and China Studies, which will combine not only English and social studies but also art and music.

Foreign languages: students may select German, French, or Spanish.

Industrial arts/home economics: there will be five industrial arts shops, including a complete auto body shop. Home economics offerings will include a child care program.

Science: science courses will be offered which utilize the Planetarium at Como Elementary School, across the street from the high school.

On-the-job training: eight training programs will mean that up to 240 students may receive on-the-job training for half a day and attend classes the other half of the day.

Learning Centers: Como students will have access to all the learning center programs the St. Paul schools operate.

In addition to the academic program, a full extracurricular program will be available, in-

The Coop Grocery Stores

By Adele Fadden

SAP, pronounced, "sap," but meaning Saint Anthony Park, usually refers, not the area, but to the coop grocery store on the corner of Cleveland and Buford. But add "Too" to SAP and you have another coop store at 928 Raymond Avenue in South Saint Anthony.

The two stores are one coop in two buildings. Green Grass Grocery, now SAP - Too, for several years was having a hard time surviving. In January, 1978 the Green Grass board asked SAP for assistance and it was given in the form of credit. Things got better but it was clear that Green Grass could not stand on its own. So after much discussion, study and negotiating it was agreed to trade off the assets of Green Grass for the money owed to SAP. On September 1, 1978 Green Grass became "SAP - Too" and as such is thriving today.

Just what is a coop anyway? To members it is a store where wholesome foods are sold with as little packaging as possible (bring your own bags) and where the members work. Membership means paying $2.00 in January and again in July and working (packaging, cutting cheese, sweeping etc.) 3 hours a month. Presently, members pay the wholesale price plus 13%. This "add on" is to pay the operating expenses of the store: salaries of the coordinators and cashiers, rent, utilities, and upkeep of the coolers and freezers (considerable!).

To non-members it's a store to buy some things such as cheese, spices and teas reasonably, even after paying the 35% add-on. Senior citizens pay the membership fee but don't necessarily have to work. Their mark up is 13%.

What can a customer buy in a coop anyway? Well, take a look at all those green trash cans and peek in some. You'll see all kinds of flour, cereals, grains, nuts, etc. Then there are those round white cans, what's in them? Lots of things like coconut, sugar, nuts.

And that cooler. It's bristling full of bunches of green onion and celery, fat heads of broccoli and lettuce, boxes of mushrooms - all kinds of fresh vegetables plus a colorful array fruits.

"The University of Minnesota's intercampus transit system will pass through this redevelopment area, affording transportation to students and staff living in the neighborhood. This underutilized railroad land and adjacent properties make up Mayor Latimer's proposed Energy Park.

Haley told the President about the University's intercampus transit system, Energy Park and the St. Anthony Association's Home Improvement Center (see page 3.)

Haley concluded his remarks saying, "The District planning process in St. Paul has been a highly successful vehicle in shaping the future of the city. Involving citizens in the decision making process has created an impetus which is necessary to renew the vitality of our core city.

Another SAP resident, Metropolitan Council representative Todd Lefko also was a speaker on the televised meeting with Carter.

Lefko stressed that St. Paul has had many successes, that our city has been a leader. "We realize," Lefko quipped our obligations and interdependence. In fact, Mr. President we know Minneapolis has always looked to us for leadership and we have never failed them." Lefko went on to emphasize civic pride.

Mr. President, we've been successful in establishing the processes. Now we must be even more creative in utilizing them. In this vein, we are discussing the establishment of a model citizen educational process on energy, gardening, housing, economic development and governmental forms and functions. Next, establishment of an urban extension service tied to our neighborhood planning process is being researched. Third, creation of an expanded participatory planning process on St. Paul of the 80's and beyond is being explored.

Mr. President, we see a city where for the first time, leadership, information, education, training, systems planning and investment can be integrated. Here in St. Paul awareness can be translated into action.

Mr. President, look about you. You see a city with faith in itself, and the ability to become, even more of a model, for what neighborhoods, cities and our society, can, with vision, become.

★ No Support for Widening

Response from last month's request for opinions indicates that residents do not want Cleveland Avenue widened.

The search for solutions to the residential parking problem continues. The Community Council Physical Committee members are attempting to piece together some sequential steps to resolve the issue. Members voted support for banning parking on Cleveland during the winter months contingent on the City's adoption of a residential parking permit ordinance. This ordinance will establish procedures for resident purchase of permits. Cost of a permit has been estimated to be $15. The ordinance has not been brought before the City Council as yet.

★ Sorority's Request Supported

District 12 Community Council members voted support of granting a special use permit to Lambda Delta Phi Sorority for its move from 1270 Raymond to 1381 Cleveland Avenue. The Council views the move as satisfying the long range goals of both the SAP Association Plan and District 12's General District Plan. Neighbors who object can appeal to the City's Planning and Zoning Committee.

The sorority is required by the city to make certain improvements before they can occupy the Cleveland Avenue house. A design of off street parking which does not require removal of trees or bushes has been proposed.

It is anticipated that the house on Raymond will return to its original use as a duplex. Any other use would require a special use permit or a zoning change and would not be supported by the long range plans for SAP.

Then there are the freezers with compartments full of juices, vegetables, meats, fish and even Haagen Daaz ice cream, the queen of all ice creams.

The cheese cooler is a joy to behold - everything from rich Havarti to Feta to Jarlsburg. You name a cheese - it's there. If not ask Helen De Foulst why not. She has been ordering our cheese for years, from fine suppliers, and knows cheese better than any of the rest of us. Helen keeps the variety, quality and quantity so high we are all proud of our cheese section. And the prices can't be beat!

If you join or shop at either store, you'll be pleased to know that the stores are in a healthy financial position. We try to just break even, if we get too far ahead we reduce the mark up.

The annual meeting will be Sunday, November 4. Watch for the notice. Come and find out all about the state of the stores and give us input. You'll see neighbors in action trying to make two good stores even better.

Adele Fadden has been a resident of South St. Anthony Park for 18 years. She is a delegate to District 12 Community Council and on the SAP Board.

Home Improvement Center Opens

By Sharon Benepe

Worrying about your fuel bills for the winter months? Concerned about finding a reliable contractor to build your dream kitchen? Wondering about the heat loss from the windows that need caulking and repair? These questions and more often plague the homeowner when faced with the thought of hiring people to make improvements on their homes. The problems are often compounded in an older home - the work is more difficult to do as well as requiring significantly more expertise than working on a newer home.

As of August 5, people in the Park have a community service that should answer some of the questions and relieve some of the anxieties about home repair and home improvements. "The Home Improvement Center," a clearing house for information on insulation needs, window caulking, major home additions and general home improvement will be the place to go for help with some of the problems. The center is located in the SAP Drive-In Bank - the desk for the center is at the rear of the bank lobby. Brochures on home improvements information will be available during all regular banking hours. Additional questions throughout the week can be answered by Mary Warpeha at 646-1999.

Suggestions for roof maintenance available.

"Everything is much easier the second time around," Wellington commented. "The committee felt the kind of advice that someone who had just completed a remodeling project could offer his neighbor is perhaps of greatest value. We hope the information our center will offer will make this neighbor to neighbor contact easier than it has been in the past."

Steve Wellington is an administrative assistant in the Mayor's office. "One of my assignments in the city is in the housing rehabilitation programs - my interest peaked working with the city housing program. I felt that a community needs its own resource center - we need direct person to person interaction for a better community. The community should provide

The survey indicated that 20-30 percent of the Park residents undertook a major home improvement project last year. Many more residents regularly engage in maintenance projects. Because of the response the committee felt that a significant number could benefit from more home improvement information in a centralized point in the neighborhood. The center will act as reference center to help the neighborhood find reliable contractors. "The list is still in its early stages but our hope is to have a large list with several names so that people can pick and choose the contractors that best fit their needs. One of the most difficult and frightening aspects of contracting major work is finding a reliable contractor," stated Wellington.

The center will provide a directory of skilled "do-it-yourselfers" who might choose to barter their talents.

Warpeha also commented on some of the problems that are particular to the many seniors that live in the park. "Often-times people who have lived in their home for many years let the house fall into disrepair because of financial problems or inability to find people to do the work. Keeping the home structurally sound is often something that slides by because of other problems in the home. Many of these people are afraid they will be unable to stay in their home because of the rising cost of heating. This situation can be somewhat remedied by adequate insulation, landscaping and weather stripping."

In addition to providing information, workshops will be provided throughout the year. The first one will be called "Conserve Your Energy Workshop" and will be held Tuesday, September 18 from 7-10 p.m. at the St. Anthony Park Methodist Church.

better information to its residents with the city offices available to the people for particular concerns. I feel that the St. Anthony Park Home Improvement Center is that facility."

Mary Warpeha has just completed constructing an addition to her Park home.

Wellington and Warpeha wrote and delivered a survey assessing the needs for a home improvement center to the 1500 residents of the Park.

Crumbling cement poses a problem. Photos by Sharon Benepe.

The center was the brainchild of the housing services committee of the St. Anthony Park Association. Last fall Steve Wellington became chairman of the committee. Wellington and Mary Warpeha are coordinators of the project. Warpeha says, "We won't try to offer any more than good sound advice to people in the Park. Sometimes just knowing the right person, finding the right financing source can be invaluable to the completion of a worthwhile project."

anatomy of a check

Your check can perform a number of services for you. It can pay your bills and provide you with permanent proof of payment. It supports tax deductible expenses. And properly maintained, your checking account can be used as a reliable credit reference.

The following are some common errors made in the writing or cashing of checks that create difficulties for the maker or receiver.

1. (Date) Your bank may return a check that bears a stale date (six months or more) or no date at all. It may also return a postdated check.
2. (Payee) A check may not be paid if it does not indicate to whom it is payable.
3. (Legal Amount) The legal amount of a check is the amount written out. It is this amount the bank must honor, even if it differs from the numerical amount.
4. (Signature) The maker's signature is necessary for payment of a check. This is the bank's authorization to pay.
5. (Endorsement) A check submitted for payment must be endorsed on the back exactly as it is written on the front. A check payable to two parties, using the word "and", must be endorsed by both parties.

When writing or accepting a check, a brief review of these important items can prevent problems and inconvenience for all concerned!

Jim Nelson keeps the radio tuned softly to KSJN at Micawber's bookstore. You can browse through the tables of books or sit on the floor scanning Lewis Thomas' latest release and listen while Jim chats with one of his customers. Books are bought, a breeze finds its way through the open door and everything is pleasant in there: people, conversation, the music drifting faintly through the store.

Nick Mayer's mechanics play a different tune as they adjust the points on the distributor or replace a muffler. Your car is in good hands. And if the time is right, you can stand by the garage and watch the neighborhood pass by the pumps—a neighborhood that has discovered how easy it is to buy gas on Tuesday or Wednesday.

And if the soft sounds of WAYL played at the bank don't always come through the speaker of the drive-in window, they are echoed in the voice of Lynn Basich or one of the other tellers who always seem to know when the kids have been sick or when the family has returned from vacation.

In fact, life in St. Anthony Park is so easy that the hardest thing about living in such a neighborhood, for most of us, is to keep our problems in perspective. I easily forget the pleasant sounds and notice only the band of young people smoking dope behind the bank. I don't like feeling so angry when I hear the offensive language these would-be-hoods use around and direct towards our neighbors.

For most of us the music of our neighborhood lends itself to easy listening. At worst, our newly formed gang of young people are a minor disturbance, like babes crying at a concert. Perhaps, if their parents don't hear the cries or don't know what's wrong, we can help out. Through the cooperation of the schools, the Parks and Recreation program, the P.T.S.A., the St. Anthony Park Association, local merchants and the Bugle, perhaps we can encourage our young people to find their own tune, one that is humane, certainly more humane than the dissonant chords that presently harass the neighborhood.

Letters

The Pits

Regarding Lois Glaeser's letter to the editor entitled "Cleanliness Counts" in the last issue (Vol. 6, No. 2, August, 1979), all we can say is "Amen." Bridgeman's has become "the pits".

Sincerely,
 Mr. & Mrs. J. Crowley

Self-Evaluation

Ms. Glaeser deserves a thank you for her accurate, long overdue, appraisal of "Bridgeman's condition". However, now that someone else has been critical, how about evaluating ourselves.

Traditionally, St. Anthony Park neighborhoods have offered safety, charm and distinction. But the tree lined streets and lilac shaded yards are showing signs of decay and deterioration.

If you are beginning to feel indignant, try to put those feelings aside and if you care about your neighborhood please step to your front window for a moment. Take a good look across the street...

When was the last time that house had a new roof? How long have those gutters been drooping? Could anyone see through those rusty screens? When was the house painted last? Have the front steps always been crumbling? Has the lawn been mowed or shrubs trimmed lately? How long has that dead tree been there?

If you are lucky the house across the street will contribute to the St. Anthony Park tradition and be admired. But please do one more thing: step out your front door, down to the sidewalk and turn around. Now, ask yourself the same questions about the house in front of you.

Sincerely,
 Mrs. Barbara D. Rowe

School Pride

Residents of Como, North and South St. Anthony should be very proud of the work done by the administrators at Murray Junior High School which resulted in a grant from the Northwest Area Foundation for new programs at Murray. In particular, we commend Vern Kenyon, the principal at Murray, and Joe Nathan, the assistant principal, who wrote much of the grant proposal. There is little question that this grant was the decisive factor in the unanimous decision of the St. Paul School Board to designate Murray as a magnet junior high school for the city of St. Paul. The magnet designation allows open enrollment for students throughout the city and will strengthen the academic program of our area junior high school.

Community residents will be invited to help with educational programs at Murray in a variety of ways this fall. We look forward to a good year for our junior high school and invite participation by parents and community people in the school program.

Sincerely,
 Dr. Joseph Everson
 Murray PTSA President

Winning Essay

Alas, the August Bugle should have included the following results of the essay contest. Apologies to those who participated. P.M.R.

The Winners of the First Annual Patriotic Essay Contest by American Legion Post #34, St. Anthony Park were: 1st Place - April Cecchi, 2095 Commonwealth Ave.; 2nd Place - Michelle Parker, 818 Sherburne Ave.; Honorable Mention - Nichol Anderson, 1185 Gibbs Ave. The Judges were Judy Johnson and Betty Lentz.

The Essays were read at the 4th of July Ceremonies in Langford Park. Winners received checks for $10, $5 and $2. There had been a total of 16 entries submitted by the 4th Graders at St. Anthony Park Elementary School.

Here is a copy of the original Essay by April Cecchi.

My Country

I am proud of America because I was born here and this is my country. I like it because it has a large variety of people, places and resources.

The people in America are made up of many different nationalities. Yet we are equal. We have a equal rights program, people have a voice in the government and the government is elected by the people. I can go to any church of my choice. And I can say, believe in what I want. America has 50 states and I can live in any one I choose.

America has four seasons and many different landscapes—mountains, deserts, oceans, forests where a great variety of plants and animals live and grow.

Because of the wide variety of plants and animals I have plenty to eat, a warm dry house to live in and clothes to wear. I'm thankful I was born in America and I want to do my part in keeping America great so others will be proud to live here too.

Association President Begins Term Optimistically

By Peggy Mann Rinehart

Ann Copeland doesn't consider being the first woman president of the St. Anthony Park Association particularly significant. "Harlan and I weren't even living in St. Anthony Park when the Association was all male. Others fought that issue." In fact, the Copeland family became members of the Association as soon as they moved into the neighborhood. "We looked at Gerald McKay's house and he told us about the Association. When we finally moved into the Park he called and asked us if we'd like to go to a meeting with him. That personal contact sure makes a difference."

Each of the organizations to which Copeland belongs stresses the personal. Her work on A.F.S. (American Field Service) has helped to sponsor the constant flow of exchange students at Murray. The League of Women Voters and District 12 Community Council both stress involvement on a local level. "Neighborhood politics are always a good way to get to know people," she explains.

However, Copeland's involvement goes well beyond the social. She truly believes that great neighborhoods are built and take time to build and maintain. Copeland explains that the Association has three obligations. It should act as a watchdog for a community, it should provide service to the community and it should boost the community's morale. "Personally, I'd like to see us doing a little more service and a little less watchdogging."

Copeland is pleased with the organization's growth. "There were 230 people at the Steak Fry and we got more memberships through the Fourth of July." She is quick to say, however, that while gaining new memberships, the St. Anthony Park Association must encourage the involvement of the older members.

As the 1979-80 President of the St. Anthony Park Association, Ann Copeland encourages people to contact her, to express their opinions. She is optimistic. "Organizations go through cycles. I feel as though the Association is on the upward swing."

New Pastor

Pastor Robert Preuss will begin his ministry as associate pastor at St. Anthony Park Lutheran Church September 1. Preuss was a May graduate of Luther Theological Seminary so he is not a newcomer to the Park area.

Preuss was born and raised in the Washington, D.C. area and attended William and Mary College, Williamsburg, Virginia. He was a philosophy major there.

While attending the seminary, he served for two summers on the North Shore involving himself in summer resident and campground ministry. While there he met his wife, Michele Simon, to whom he was recently married.

Pastor Preuss will be installed as associate pastor at St. Anthony Park Lutheran Church, Sunday, September 9. Services are at 8:45 and 11:00 a.m.

Booster Club Forms

The Langford Booster Club hopes to promote an organized, efficiently run and well-equipped recreation and athletic program in St. Anthony Park. The Club, organized by several area parents who have become involved in the Langford recreation program, has had several ad-hoc meetings during the past spring and summer.

During that time, booster organizations in other parts of the City were visited, the program at Langford was evaluated and there was a meeting with the Director of the St. Paul Park and Recreation Department and his staff.

A proposed constitution was drafted for presentation at the club's first annual meeting. That meeting will be held at 8:00 p.m. on Tuesday, September 11, at the elementary school. The purpose of the meeting will be to solicit membership, ratify the constitution, elect officers and appoint a steering committee.

This is a public meeting and all area residents are urged to attend. The activities of the club should be of special interest to parents. Persons interested in serving as an officer or steering committee member can contact Tom Ruddy, 645-0077; Vivian Howatt, 644-8977 or Jim Christenson, 645-4493.

Park's Early Days on September 11

All residents of the community are invited to the September dinner meeting of the St. Anthony Park Association at 6 p.m. on Tuesday, September 11, at the St. Anthony Park Elementary School. A delicious dinner will be catered by Kiki Gore for only $3 per person.

Early residents of St. Anthony Park will tell their remembrances of life here in days gone by. Mr. Gale Frost, a lifelong Parkite, will moderate the panel. Speakers will be: Mrs.

Aurel Clarke, whose father built one of the first homes on Langford Park, Mr. Kenneth Boss, from the next generation of Park residents, Mr. Eugene Fevold, who is writing a history of Luther Seminary, and Dean Howard Macy, who came here in 1919 and was Dean of the Institute of Agriculture, where Ken Boss was one of his students. Mrs. Clarke was a hit in a similar program a few years ago. This is a chance to hear firsthand history of our community, the St. Paul campus, and the Seminary.

Mrs. Olga Hallberg will call Association members by Sept. 7. If you are not called, or wish to cancel or add a reservation, call David and Linda Maschwitz, 646-8530, by Sept. 10. Reservations must be paid for if not canceled 24 hours in advance. Come and meet a few of the people who helped to make the Park what it is today! Child care will be provided for children under 10.

The Association Today: A Good Time to Join

What is the St. Anthony Park Association today, some 32 years after its formation? Why is Association membership important?

The Association today has 533 members and reflects the wide diversity of ages, backgrounds, and interests which gives this community its dynamic character. Though times and issues have changed since 1947, the Association exists now, as then, to serve those interests of the community which are best served through joint effort.

Many members focus their time and energy within a committee in their interest area: community planning, education, housing, community services, athletics, history, public affairs, commerce.

Fresh and innovative thinking in energy conservation, as a community, may prove an important direction in the near future. Community education, the public school system, library services, and day-care are all significant educational concerns for our neighborhood. Crucial, as well, is the compatible development of the institutions and commercial establishment which contribute to the character of St. Anthony Park. Information on housing services available to older communities can facilitate maintenance and rehabilitation of housing. And programs for youth can best succeed with adult participation and support.

Association monthly dinner meetings encourage members to renew and expand friendships while enjoying good food and programs of general interest.

An invitation to membership in the St. Anthony Park Association is a reminder that vital community life is of great value. It is fragile, however, and should not be taken for granted. It needs the involvement of all.

Chamber Orchestra to Visit Park

By Mary Jane Munson

The St. Paul Chamber Orchestra under the direction of William McGlaughlin will play a concert Friday, October 26, at 8 p.m. in the St. Anthony Park United Church of Christ as the first of a series of five concerts being planned by the St. Anthony Park Arts Forum in connection with the Intersection program sponsored by COMPAS and funded by the Mott Foundation. All concerts will be in the UCC church.

Latch Key Starts

By Mollie Hoben

The Latchkey program at St. Anthony Elementary will begin September 4 with a new director and with sufficient room in the school building.

"Apparently we won't have any space problems this year," Principal Charles Weldin reported. This means the portable classroom planned last spring for Latchkey will not be used.

Weldin anticipates that the new director will begin work August 27. At publication time the new director had not been named.

The four remaining programs are: November, Sidney Killmer, viola, Richard Hillmer, oboe, Julie Himmelstrup, piano, and Anders Himmelstrup, cello; January, 1980, a Twelfth Night Concert with a bell choir from the UCC church, members of the Livingston consort doing medieval and renaissance music, and the audience participating in carol singing; April, Julia Bogorad, flute, Charles Ullery, bassoon, and Julie Himmelstrup, piano; and May, John Kennedy, violin, Janis Hardy, mezzo-soprano, and Julie Himmelstrup, piano. Season tickets will be available September 5 at Micawber's Books and the Bibelot Shop.

Steven Budas, dramatist in the COMPAS/Intersection program, will do two identical mime programs with assault as the subject on Friday, September 21, at 8 p.m. and Saturday, September 22, 4 (or 7) p.m. Budas did workshops earlier this summer training women and children in the techniques of self-defense.

Kathy Diedrich, local poet, will be among the poets reading at the second in the St. Anthony Park Fiction and Poetry Reading series in the Fireplace Room of the Lutheran Church Friday, September 28 at 8 p.m. Guests reading that evening are Philip Dacey, poet and teacher at Southwest State University, Marshall, Minnesota, and Carol Bly, fiction writer from Madison, Minnesota. Garvin Davenport, local poet, and Tess Gallagher and Raymond Carver, guest readers, presented the first program in this reading series July 6.

The 55-member faculty of the new high school is composed primarily of teachers from Murray and Washington.
"We were able to take just about every teacher who wanted to come," Funk reported.
Support staff in the high school will include an assistant principal, four counselors, a social worker, a nurse, and a youth advocate.

Funk has been at Como for the past five years as principal of the junior high program.
Before that he was assistant principal at Washington high school, coach and teacher at Humboldt, and instructor at St. Thomas.

Planning for the merger of the Murray and Washington programs into one high school has been underway for over a year.

Members of the two student councils met several times last year. They made decisions about such things as school colors (black and gold), nickname (Cougars), and crest. In April, they elected officers, choosing co-presidents, one from each school, a treasurer from Murray, and a secretary from Washington. Former Murray students Beinhoff and Beth Geist will serve as co-president and treasurer, respectively.

The PTA's have also merged and have had one organizational meeting. Officers elected included Murray parents Denis Dailey, first vice president, and Julie Lietzke, secretary.

Dailey said he was "hopeful that parents from the two schools can work together."
Funk, who has been meeting with parents, said, "It looks like the neighborhoods will be completely compatible."

A PTA-sponsored Open House is planned for October 2.

Teachers will report to Como on August 27; arena scheduling for students will occur September 4 and 5, and classes will begin September 6.

Summarizing the Summer

By Lorraine Baker

Laurie Johnson, Rec Leader I, in charge of the programs at Langford Park Community Center until Kathy Hare's replacement arrives, reports that the tennis courts were not completed as planned and probably won't be finished until late September or October which precludes their use this year.

When summarizing the summer program, Johnson stated they had a total of 23 teams this year in baseball, softball, kickball, tee ball, and soccer. Unfortunately, no teams made it into the league playoffs.

A new program for third graders was started this year; near ball. This is ball in which the coaches pitch to the players instead of the players hitting the ball off the tee. The Langford Team traveled to play in the East Side League as there was no league team in this area.

The fall sports program is just beginning and will consist of football, tackle ball, and flag football. Soccer will also be part of the program again. If you wish to sign up, do so anytime between 1:00 and 9:00 p.m. at Langford.

In the absence of Howie Bell, who is on vacation until September 4, Jane Leisen, Rec Leader I at South St. Anthony Park recapped their summer program.

As part of the Fourth District of the St. Paul Parks and Rec Program, they coached a co-ed softball team for fourth and fifth graders and a softball team for boys in the ninth grade and under. Neither team made it to the playoffs.

Leisen said, "four kids attended the Day Camp Program put on by St. Paul Parks and Recreation Program at Camp Wilder, near Stillwater." Also, "arts and crafts classes were offered to boys and girls, six to twelve, in painting and drawing in which eight or ten children were taught."

Open swimming was held on Thursday afternoons in a private pool and was one of the special events at SAP during the summer.
