

Falcon Heights facilitates fire prevention

By Truman Olson

Nick Baumann and Jerry Gilbert are two part-time Falcon Heights fire fighters who are installing free smoke detectors.

By Truman Olson

On a warm and sunny Saturday morning fire trucks roared up to a home on a quiet side-street in Falcon Heights. Worried neighbors came out to watch. But nothing was the matter. It was the Falcon Heights Fire Department installing free smoke detectors in the homes of qualifying residents.

The City of Falcon Heights has received a grant from the Ramsey County Community Development Block Grant Program (CDBG) for the installation of smoke detectors in the homes of elderly and low and moderate income residents who do not have detectors on each level of their homes. "We have 100 smoke detectors to install in the homes of residents who qualify for the program," said Terry Iverson, Falcon Heights Fire Marshall. "Statistically, smoke detectors are responsible for saving up to 75% of lives in fire/smoke related incidents nationally."

Members of the Falcon Heights Fire Department have volunteered to install smoke detectors as a community service. "After an application has been approved the fire department will make an appointment to install the smoke detectors at no cost to the resident," said Iverson. "The installation takes about one-half hour and the fire department supplies all the necessary tools and labor. At that time we also give complete instructions for maintaining the smoke alarms."

Applications for the program are available at city hall, 2077 W. Larpentour, or by calling 644-5050. To qualify, residents must be over age 60 or meet the CDBG income guidelines: one person household: $21,300; two person household: $24,300; three person household: $27,350. Larger households should contact city hall for income guidelines.

"We strongly urge all residents to have properly maintained smoke detectors in their homes and to practice good fire prevention procedures," said Iverson. "It's everyone's job."

Octoberfest ends fall and starts winter

On Sat., Oct. 29, St. Anthony Park merchants are throwing a party on the sidewalks outside their businesses at Como & Carter. There will be entertainment and Halloween treats for kids from 9 a.m.-6 p.m. Entertainment will include Clan Tartan, a Scottish dance group, and the Jolly Bavarian German Band. A horse-drawn carriage will give patrons surrey rides in the afternoon.

Besides celebrating fall, the Merchants and Professionals Assn. urges businesses and residences to start displaying white lights, or even a single white candle in a window, so winter evenings in St. Anthony Park will truly earn the title "Winter Wonderland."

Former students and teachers of the school at Gibbs Farm came from all over the state to celebrate its 110th birthday.

The little white school has a birthday

By Mary Mergenthal

The little white schoolhouse at Gibbs Farm had a birthday Sept. 25, its 110th birthday in fact, and the people at the party couldn't have been happier. They were former students and teachers from the school's earlier, active days. They came from all over Minnesota but they all brought memories of their years in the school, which was located in Chippewa County, Minn., until 1966. It was purchased then by the Ramsey County Historical Society for $100 and moved to the Gibbs Farm museum, because it was considered a near perfect example of a turn-of-the-century Midwest schoolhouse.

The Stoen School, named for J. J. Stoen who donated the land in Milan, Minn., on which it was built in 1882, once housed students of all ages. They filled the wooden desks, kept their lunches between the potbelly stove and the wall (to keep them from freezing in the winter), and learned the wonders of geography, mathematics and literature beneath the "required" portraits of George Washington, Abraham Lincoln and Christopher Columbus. Some of those students, and some teachers, were back at their old

Gibbs to 7

Lillian Lang attended Stoen School and taught there so she'd rung the bell many times before the birthday party.

Block Nurse Program goes abroad

The St. Anthony Park Block Nurse Program has been invited to participate in a binational conference on innovation Nov. 2-14 in Australia and New Zealand. The conference is sponsored by the Ford Foundation and the Australian Local Government Ministry.

Marge Jamieson, executive director of the program, will attend the conference on behalf of the organization and will present a workshop called "The Preadoption of Innovation."

Two years ago the Block Nurse Program was one of ten programs chosen from a field of 1400 to be honored for innovation in state and local governments. That award was given by the John F. Kennedy School of Government at Harvard University and the Ford Foundation. In 1987 and 1988 ten more award winners were chosen. Now, from those 30, ten have been invited to participate in the Australia/New Zealand conference.

Minnesota, in fact, has two of the ten winners because Sandra Hale from the Minnesota State Department of Administration will also be present to tell about the participatory management style used by her department.

Council actions at a glance

Actions taken by the Community Council at its Oct. 12 meeting included:

- Supported the request by neighbors on Commonwealth for a two week layover by the Zoning Committee of final action on a proposed six unit cluster development of paired single family residences.
- Recommended no change in parking times on Buford Ave. from the current posted times.
- Approved a letter and statement of position on the University of Minnesota Busway be sent to the U of M Physical Planning Department.
- Acted to incorporate the members of the Busway Task Force into the Physical Planning Committee as ad hoc members, with the Physical Planning Committee acting as the spokespeople on busway issues.

- Supported the Waldorf Corporation site plan for the razing of the building at the corner of University and Vandalia and the construction of two one-story buildings to house light industry/service/office warehouse.
- Approved rezoning the Westgate area to I-1 for the purpose of platting.
- Acted to develop a program for affordable replacement housing in St. Anthony Park for the residents being displaced by Twin City Testing expansion to tie in with the Community Council's comprehensive plan.

If more information is desired regarding actions of the council, please call the office at 292-7884 or any of your representatives on the Community Council.

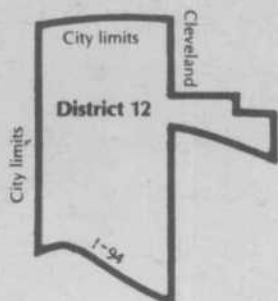

The St. Anthony Park (District 12) Community Council is a group of 21 citizens elected to serve the District 12 area of St. Paul, including residents of St. Anthony Park, and representatives of commerce and industry. It is one of 17 citizen participation councils in the city.

The council meets the Wednesday after the first Thursday of every month. All meetings are open to the public. Check for location.

Role of standing committees

Much of the hard work of identifying and researching issues, reaching decisions and making recommendations to the elected council is done by the standing committees created through bylaw provisions. There are four standing committees—physical planning, human services, housing/zoning and environment. The meeting times for these committees are listed on this page of the Bugle each month. Membership of these committees consists of elected delegates and alternates and ad hoc members appointed to the committees. The meetings are open to the public and the agenda for each meeting is mailed to committee members several days prior to the meeting.

For the next several months, the role and issues considered by each of these committees will be featured. If more information is needed or you would like to contact a member of a particular committee, please call the office or the listed committee chair.

Physical Planning Committee is chaired this year by Paul Savage and meets at 5 p.m. on the first Thursday of the month.

This includes but is not limited to:

- Traffic and public transportation routes and patterns serving and affecting this area.
- Maximum enhancement of the University Corridor.
- Optimum development of the Energy Park corridor.
- Promote optimum utilization of properties zoned for commercial and industrial use and at the same time protecting residential areas from industrial and commercial encroachment.
- Protection of land values of residential, commercial and industrial properties.

- Development of a comprehensive set of philosophical statements covering the relationship between residential and commercial and institutional uses to be used as the basis for considering future requests for variances, zoning changes, special use permits, etc.

Items currently in process:

- Light Rail Transit
- Westgate Development
- Ayd Mill Road
- Raymond Avenue Bridge
- University of Minnesota Busway
- University UNITED Redevelopment
- Capital Improvement Budget

Future projects:

- Highway 280 Redesign
- Cleveland Ave.

Neighborhood cleanup wrap-up

Sixty-five St. Anthony Park volunteers devoted over 202 hours to another successful neighborhood cleanup. Fourteen loads of refuse, 100 batteries, 280 tires, 42 appliances and five loads of brush were collected at the Sat., Sept. 24 activity. The recycling efforts of the neighborhood resulted in 42 tons of materials which did not go to the landfill. In addition, 12 tons of clean fill were recycled. Super Cycle reported that 33.5 tons of glass, cans, paper/cardboard were collected from 1260 stops during the September recycling pickups. Ramsey County estimates that 186 tons of compost were kept out of the solid waste stream this year through the St. Anthony Park Compost/Gardens Project. The price tag for all of this recycled material is worth noting. Through all of these community efforts, 273 tons of materials were diverted from landfills resulting in savings to residents and the City of St. Paul of more than $20,746 in 1988.

1989 with the help of Ramsey County and the City. Residents of St. Anthony Park have often expressed a desire for such a cleanup and the committee has placed this activity as a high priority for the coming year.

Watch for fundraising letter

The first annual fundraising effort is being launched during the first week of November. The SAPCC Executive Committee has put together a campaign to raise $5000 to augment the citizen participation budget provided by the City of St. Paul. The Community Council has faced an increasing budget crunch as the Council's activities and responsibilities have grown, but city funding has not kept pace.

A tax deductible gift in any amount will assist the Council in continuing to provide programs and activities which make St. Anthony Park the great place it is. The financial support provided by residents and businesses will help the Council in its effort to advocate for the neighborhood.

Bob Donaldson remembered

By Art Helland

Ed. note: The following article recalls the life of Robert Donaldson, a St. Anthony Park resident who died in 1978. At the turn of the century he and his father founded the Donaldson Company, Inc., in South St. Anthony Park, a worldwide manufacturer of air filters and cleaners now headquartered in Bloomington.

Bob, as he was affectionately called, lived for 35 years in both South and North St. Anthony Park on Cromwell, Bayless and Hendon Aves.

His entrepreneurship began at an early age when he and his father opened a small tin and furnace repair shop on Hampden Ave. off Raymond, around the corner from the old Allen Bros. grocery store.

Bob was born in Red Wing, Minn. on Aug. 10, 1888. Shortly thereafter his parents moved to Rochester, where he attended school, and where he became a friend of Doctors Will and Charles Mayo. His father owned a hardware store in town, which no doubt instilled in the mind of this young man a sense of an entrepreneur working at his father's side.

The next move was to South St. Anthony Park on Cromwell Ave. about 1909 where the family lived for several years. For a short period of time Bob lived in Charles City, Iowa, where he met and married a Minneapolis schoolteacher in 1910. They moved back to South St. Anthony Park on Bayless Ave. (now Hampden Ave.) right next door to the old fire station. Bob next built his family a home at 2201 Hendon Ave. in 1925.

When the Donaldsons' first shop opened for business on Hampden Ave. before the automobile age, deliveries of gutters and downspouts—which he then installed—were made by Bob on a bicycle. The bike was also used when selling equipment. This first shop evolved into what is today the Donaldson Company, Inc., a worldwide corporation having nine plants in the U.S., nine wholly owned subsidiaries overseas, three joint ventures and five licensees around the globe.

From Hampden Ave. the company moved to larger quarters at 693 Raymond Ave., just south of University Ave., where Bob's brother Frank became a partner in the business. Their first large plant was located at 666 Pelham Blvd. The business grew to the point where a still larger building was required; in 1964 it moved to its present corporate headquarters in Bloomington.

Despite a busy and heavily scheduled life, Bob gave unselfishly of his time and talents to every worthwhile cause that he could find the time to serve. He believed strongly in the Boy Scouts, attested to by years of service. When Troop 23 of Baker School was left without a scoutmaster because of the promotion of A. W. Ingli to the Headwaters Area Council in Eveleth, Minn., Bob offered to take over the troop. His contagious smile and affability won the hearts of every boy in the troop and inspired them "to do their best" (part of the Scout oath). The troop went on to win three Twin Cities wall scaling championships in addition to a few WAL-IGMUZMU (knot tying, first aid signaling, etc.) contests.

A memorable event in the life of the troop took place on the weekend of May 8, 1924, (only three months after receiving its charter) when Bob invited the patrol leaders to his cottage on Phillips Island on Lake Minnetonka for an encampment. A severe blizzard hit the area and marooned the Scouts for three days. They had to forage for fuel by tearing up several boat docks that had not been taken in for the winter. For food, every edible item in the nearby delicatessen had been cleared from the shelves by the third day—a la Mother Hubbard's cupboard. Shortly after they ran out of food the snow plows came to the rescue. For three days panicky parents had kept in touch with the Pioneer Press & Dispatch for any news concerning the troop's plight.

Bob's penchant for character building was manifested after an event that transpired while the troop was en route to the Square Lake Boy Scout camp north of Stillwater: The driver of Bob's truck (the truck was available to the troop at any time) was blinded by the lights of an oncoming car, which resulted in both vehicles plunging into the ditch. The driver of the car narrowly escaped death; fortunately there were no serious injuries—just a shaken-up troop.

Without their Scoutmaster's knowledge, the troop decided to present a series of skits to pay for repairs to the truck, putting into practice what Bob had taught them: a sense of responsibility and obligation to whomever owed. The plan was carried out very successfully by selling a sufficient number of tickets to pay off the entire debt.

Richard Donaldson, Bob's son, was an Eagle Scout and was chosen as the U.S. representative to the World Jamboree in Europe some years back. His death in 1969 cut short a promising career.

Bob's daughter, Meredith, recalls her father's philosophical, Solomonistic and common sense attributes in dealing with her and others, and remembers well the following admonishment: "If you want something badly enough—work for it!" He was honest, kind, would listen with an attentive ear, and would not pass judgment until he had heard both sides of an issue.

Bob found time to give unselfishly of his talents and time to his church, community, youth and other worthwhile activities without surrendering time to his family. He was a charter member of the Midway Club, a fifty-year member of the St. Paul Rotary Club, an associate member of the Rotary in Brainerd, board member at Midway Hospital, a Mason of Tusler Lodge (then located at Raymond & Manvel near the railroad bridge), a fifty-year member of St. Anthony Park Eastern Star #212, a Shriner and member of the Scottish Rite Osman Temple Shrine Club in St. Paul and a member of St. Anthony Park United Church of Christ (formerly St. Anthony Park North Congregational Church).

He was a devoted husband, father, grandfather and great-grandfather. He was never happier than when he and his family were together at his Pelican Lake summer home north of Brainerd.

Bob served for over 50 years on the board of Roselawn Cemetery, where he was laid to rest in 1978 after 90 years of a full and meaningful life.

The writer acknowledges with thanks Mrs. Meredith Donaldson Mair, daughter of Robert (Bob) Henry Donaldson, for her contribution to this article.

Make it a habit

Anybody can do it. Everybody should do it. But some choose not to. Why they make that choice is beyond me, but I resent their choice because I know that I'm going to pay for that choice and so will my grandchildren.

It's recycling that anybody can do, if they choose to. It's recycling that everybody should do, if they care about their fellow humans and about their world. It's recycling that lots of neighbors still don't do even though our communities have made it incredibly easy.

Some, of course, do care and therefore do make an effort. Super Cycle, the company that picks up paper, bottles, cans and cardboard in St. Anthony Park, Falcon Heights and Lauderdale, picked up 2.5 tons at 1666 Coffman last month (weekly pickup); 12.5 tons from 595 Falcon Heights stops (twice a month); four tons from 127 Lauderdale stops (once a month); and 33.5 tons from 1,260 St. Anthony Park stops (twice a month). Kids learn the habit in homes where they're involved in the saving process and in Falcon Heights Elementary School where they're encouraged to recycle classroom excess paper and to bring pop cans to appropriate bins. A few businesses recycle but I'd hope they'd be as public about it as Sal's Park Deli where customers are urged to participate.

It's good, of course, that some have recognized the difference between recyclables and trash. But there are likely few of us who couldn't broaden our definition. "Junk mail" (if it's not shiny), old love letters and even old bills (without the windows on their envelopes) are recyclable and they do add up. Think of what the envelopes of Christmas cards will do! Even the Bugle could go (after you've read it). Collect pop bottles and cans at your next meeting or party and take them home to recycle. Think of the possibilities! Share the new ideas with your neighbors! Take the lead in setting up a recycling plan at your place of employment. What happens to paper rejected from the copy machine? What sort of bins are waiting for the mail opener to use?

Next month let's double the figures in our communities. Doubling the number of people participating would do it. If each recycler added a bag of excess paper and a few more cans it would help, too. In Falcon Heights it's the first and third Fridays. In Lauderdale it's the third Friday. The recycling days in St. Anthony Park are the second and fourth Wednesdays and in Energy Park the second and fourth Mondays. It would be grand to write an editorial next year that reports, "Everybody does it!"

Thanks to 450 of you!

Two months ago, we announced our fund drive goal of $11,500. So far 450 readers have moved from passive readers to active supporters and have sent $7,712.

We're grateful because you're helping to make the Bugle appear each month. Lots more readers need to help, too.

The fund drive goal amount is 10% of our annual operating budget. We won't make it unless more of you clip the coupon in the next column and send it with your check today.

Farewell to a friend

The Bugle is perhaps unique among other papers in that its school reporters are school students rather than school officials. That's so, because we care a lot about kids and because we want young people as well as adults to have a chance to contribute to their community paper. Our interest and commitment make our grief doubly heavy now because Michelle Misener was one of our school reporters from Falcon Heights Elementary School last year. Her friend, one of this year's correspondents, tells us the story.

Farewell to Mickey begins with the first day of school, September 6, 1988. On that Tuesday, a tragic accident happened to the family of Patrick and Judy Misener. Early that morning, they found their daughter, Michelle A. Misener, unconscious in their bathtub. After her brother Jeremy attempted to get into the bathroom and there was no response from Mickey, Rev. Misener finally unlocked the bathroom door. Her mom call 911 and reported what had happened. Mickey was rushed to St. Paul Ramsey Hospital in an ambulance and remained there in a coma for 39 days.

On October 2, Michelle turned 13 and eleven days later her tragic death took place. A visitation was held on Friday, October 14, at Holcomb-Henry-Boom Funeral Home. Mickey's funeral was on Saturday, October 15 and Midway Community Church was filled with family, neighbors and friends. She was buried in Roselawn Cemetery. Michelle will be sadly missed by all who knew her.

Information for Nov. 8

Voters who have not registered in Minnesota may do so at the polls Nov. 8. Students can vote from either their school residence or home address depending upon which address the student considers to be the place of residence. Voters do not need to declare a political party in order to register. Polls are open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

In St. Anthony Park, polls are located at Seal Hi-Rise, Luther Northwestern Seminary Chapel and St. Anthony Park School. In Energy Park, voting is done at the Atrium Office Building. The polling place in Lauderdale is the Lauderdale City Hall. Falcon Heights has two places to vote, the Falcon Heights City Hall and Falcon Heights United Church of Christ.

In addition to the U.S. presidential election and the election of a U.S. Senator (Durenberger, IR; Skip Humphrey, DFL; Derrick Grimmer, Grassroots Party; Wendy Lyons, Socialist Workers Party; Arlen Overvig, Libertarian Party; and Polly Mann, Progressive Issues), local voters will choose a U.S. Representative. Candidates are Ian Maitland, IR candidate who lives in St. Anthony Park; Bruce Vento, DFL; and Natasha Terlexis, Socialist Workers Party.

In State Representative District 63A which includes Lauderdale and Falcon Heights, candidates are Karen Bondy, IR, and Mary Jo McGuire, DFL, from Falcon Heights. Voters in District 63B, which includes St. Anthony Park and Energy Park, will choose between Kim Reckinger, IR, and Ann Wynia, DFL. Wynia also lives in St. Anthony Park.

All voters will decide the fate of three proposed state constitutional amendments. All voters is not an exaggeration—a majority of all who vote on any part of the ballot, not just of those who vote on the amendment, is required to adopt an amendment. Therefore anyone who does not vote is in effect voting "NO."

Amendment One would establish a Minnesota Environment and Natural Resources Trust Fund for environmental, natural resource and wildlife purposes. Amendment Two would allow the use of juries of less than 12 members in civil and nonfelony cases. Amendment Three would permit the legislature to authorize a state lottery.

Voters will choose county Soil and Water Conservation Supervisors, an Associate Supreme Court Justice, and a Court of Appeals Judge.

St. Paul voters will vote on an amendment which would remove from the process of initiative and referendum an ordinance which prohibits discrimination based on race, creed, religion, sex, color, national origin, ancestry, familial status, age, disability, marital status, status with regard to public assistance or sexual orientation.

Haunted Hardware

By Warren Hanson

On the last night of October I sat upright from my sleep, Haunted by a task which I'd forgot that would not keep. I hadn't paid the phone bill! That's the third month in a row! (If you don't pay the phone bill they can shut you off, you know!) In my polka dot pajamas I went downstairs to the den, Where I found my checkbook, found the bill and, finally, a pen. With trembling hand I paid the bill and sealed it for the post. The near catastrophe had left me pallid as a ghost. I walked down to the post office to finally mail the bill. But as I passed the hardware store, I felt a sudden chill. Something stirred inside that store as I was walking by. I'm sure I saw some movement from the corner of my eye. I stopped and looked. But nothing. So I turned to walk on past. No, there it was again! I pressed my nose up to the glass. It was back along the right hand side, among the cans of paint. I'm sure I saw some movement. Very subtle. Very faint. But it was real! The cans of paint were moving on their shelves. Rocking to and rocking fro, disordering themselves. And then the varnishes joined in. The lacquers and the stains Added to the clanking chorus with cacophonous refrains. Across the store the housewares started leaving their display The dustpans and the plungers and the pitchers and the trays Were dancing wildly in the aisle and raising such a din That soon the sponges, rolling pins and garbage cans joined in. The whole store now was pulsing with a rhythm quite bizarre. The hammers slammed a clamoring eight beats to every bar. Electric drills and sanders added their unearthly whine,

And ratchet sets were grinding out a trill to chill the spine. A tremor shook the counter (as another shook my knees), And it brought an icy jangle from the rack of uncut keys. The shudder ran along the floor, from the front back to the back, And rocked the wall of ladders as they hung upon their rack. The rakes and hoes and shovels leaped from where they had been hung And played a bony melody upon the ladders' rungs. The whole back room had wakened to the spirits of the store. A conga line of chain and twine came dancing through the door. The nuts and bolts and hinges, sleeping soundly in their bins, Awoke and flew into the air, with doorknobs joining in. The mouse traps snapped. The doorbells clanged. The wet'n'dry vacs coughed. Then slowly, in the center aisle, the light bulbs rose aloft. And in their flight they came alight and circled near the ceiling And cast a glow on things below, all rollicking and reeling. The bulbs performed a blinding dance of fiery caprices. They whirled and spun, then one by one, they fell and crashed to pieces. I gazed in awe at what I saw from outside in the moonlight. No one will believe that in those hours after midnight On the last night of October, in the gloomy autumn dark

Illustration by Warren Hanson

I saw a haunted hardware store in St. Anthony Park.

I stood in silent reverie, my eyes a glassy stare, While bird seed stored in garbage cans erupted in the air And fertilizer spreaders raced around and 'round the store. Little did I know that, in the basement, there was more! In the cellar, where they keep the things that have no names, The place where only strong men go. The place that ain't for dames. Down there in the basement, deep beneath the hardwood floor, Where you find the very stuff that put the "hard" in "hardware store," There was something simply horrible beginning to take shape Which embodied perils no do-it-yourselfer could escape. All the gizmos, gadgets, doohickeys and deelybobs Were united in the body of a creature most macabre... The vile and evil emperor of things that didn't work, The wicked king of every household project gone berserk! And when he was assembled, with his widgets and his wares, This toolbox tyrant turned around and clattered up the stairs. And as he rose the rakes and hoes, the pliers, saws and hammers Increased their raucous rioting and multiplied their clamors. They made a ring around the king and moved in mad rotation Until the tumult rocked the store and rattled its foundation. Then, just as I began to fear the walls themselves would crumble, Something bright came into sight. My eyes turned from the rumble. I peered down Como Avenue to find out what was gleaming, And there, low in the eastern sky, the morning sun was beaming. The first day of November dawned majestic, slow and formal. I turned back to the hardware store... and it was back to normal!

A story such as this one, like as not, won't be believed. And, frankly, if you proved that it's not true, I'd be relieved. But I became quite certain, as I stood there in the dark, That we have a haunted hardware store in St. Anthony Park.

The bear essentials

By Tara Christopherson

For Catherine Daly, bear season stays open year-round. Not to worry. Her handspun, knitted and stuffed bears are strictly the domesticated, folk art variety. And the St. Anthony Park spinner and knitter brought them to life last winter during her own hibernation.

Daly, 38, is at ease discussing bear essentials in the sleek kitchen of her two-year-old architect-built home. There are bears in baskets, bears in chairs, three-inch bears and eighteen-inch bears, bears from natural yarns and bears from hand-dyed yarns.

How did it all begin? The mother of Patrick, 4, and Caitlin, 2, says she turned to spinning four years ago as her "night off from mothering." She learned to spin from fellow Park resident and neighbor Marcie Archer O'Connor, and soon found herself "hooked."

Knitting was an earlier, if interrupted, passion. Daly, a Michigan native, made "the usual garter-stitch scarf" at age 10. At 14 (yes, at 14), she married her husband, Dave, now a St. Paul optometrist, and knit him a hat in honor of the occasion. "He still wears it—in fact, it's the only hat he'll wear." Then her needles went on the shelf until 1982. While working on her doctorate in textiles, clothing and anthropology at the University of Minnesota, Daly was required to take a course in kinetics. "I had to pick something [to study] involving body motion." Why not running or jumping? "I don't know. I picked knitting." She found herself smitten anew and "cranked out a sweater every two weeks" while completing her writens.

Last October, Daly attended her first meeting of The Spinning Group, an eleven-member gathering of Twin Cities' handspunners affiliated with the Weavers Guild of Minnesota. Member Carolyn Halliday arrived with "three irresistible bears she'd made from her handspun yarn." The group decided to create "beariations" on the theme—inspiration enough to send Daly home to perfect the process.

The original pattern called for knitting two symmetrically shaped pieces and hand sewing them together. She "couldn't stand all that finishing work" so Daly developed a timesaving double-knit bear pattern that worked the two pieces simultaneously.

This February found the spinners with over fifty variations of the original pattern and a burgeoning family of unique bears. "We assumed that the bears would reflect the spinning and knitting expertise of their makers; we didn't anticipate the extent to which they would reveal our psychological and social depths." Their sense of whimsy is immediately apparent: the bears sport "impish turned-up noses, smirking embroidered smiles and carefully shaped gender distinctions." But for Daly, the camaraderie of the spinners' shared creative process has been the most satisfying aspect of the project. "It's almost like a group of sisters."

And she's made no casual commitment to that sisterhood. In addition to The Spinning Group, she's president and instructor at the Weavers Guild and School of Minnesota, founder and first president of the Knitters Guild, member of the Friday Knitters, member of a Latvian group, Adisana Kopas, translated, "knitting together," and annual participant in regional retreats and workshops. After that, she still finds time to make a commitment to her community: as member of the St. Anthony Park Arts Forum board and writer of the quarterly arts calendar for the Bugle, as guest curator for the Goldstein Gallery and contributing writer to the Minnesota folk art book accompanying an exhibition at the University of Minnesota Art Gallery; and as a consultant to the Minnesota Board of Education revising secondary school curriculum for clothing and textiles.

How did she find time to knit life into nearly 30 bears? "I don't have to have that much focus. I can knit a bear in a day." The seven-hour process, not including preparation of the fleece, takes about an hour to spin the yarn and six hours to knit the bear.

The bears and Daly's pattern were published in the September issue of Spin-Off a Colorado-based magazine for handspunners. For 44 bears, one sheep and a Goldilocks, fame necessitated leaving home for the completion of the publishing process and photo session. "Everyone was really sad when they hit the road."

Daly admits being attached to them. But she says, "Recently I felt like I could let them go. I'm starting to give them as gifts to family and friends." Would she ever sell them? She laughs. "How would I ever make any money? I love spinning for the pure pleasure of spinning."

Catherine Daly shows several bear creations that she's hand-knit over the years.

Bears from 6

The bears were displayed locally this spring at the Weavers Guild. Half of the bears were gone again recently for another local appearance at the Minnesota Federations of Weavers conference.

Daughter Caitlin was asked to identify her mother's latest creation and, in the wisdom of babes, responded, "Another one." So maybe the bears have reached the limits of creative permutation. What's next? Fellow spinner Carolyn Halliday is already at work on an "upright cow with detachable morning, afternoon and evening udders." Daly has plans to "go off in a sheep direction." And if Minnesota gives us a real winter this year, who knows what addition we might expect to this already delightful menagerie?

Gibbs from 1

"stomping grounds" in Sept. to renew acquaintances and relive memories.

The school is no longer in active use, of course, but it still hums with activity in the summer when students from around the Twin Cities come to spend a day acting out a school day of long ago. They are taught by volunteer teacher Harlan Seyfer, who in his "real life" is a manager at a supercomputer manufacturer.

But there was once real student activity near Gibbs Farm. Heman Gibbs came from a New England tradition that believed in public schooling. He was largely responsible for establishing school district 17 in Rose Township in 1871 and he became the district's first director. Previously, Frank and Abbie Gibbs had to walk to a school in district 10 located near the present corner of Snelling and Larpenteur. In 1871 Heman Gibbs donated land directly across Larpenteur from his farmhouse and helped build a one-room schoolhouse. This schoolhouse still stands. It is presently owned by the University of Minnesota and is used for storage.

What's going on over there?

We've all curiously watched the buildings on University, west of 280, become a pile of rubble and then a vacant lot. We've probably all heard a variety of explanations of what's going on over there. Get ready for the facts.

Bill McGivern, director of public relations for the Port Authority of the City of St. Paul, will be the guest speaker at the Nov. 8 St. Anthony Park Association meeting. The topic is Westgate, the 70-acre development on University Ave.

The Westgate Project was approved by the city in Sept. 1987. Planned are 350,000 square feet of office space and 500,000 square feet of office/showroom and light industrial facilities. Estimates are that Westgate will produce $80 million in public and private investment, 1750-2000 jobs and more than $3 million in annual real estate taxes.

McGivern will present a general overview—what led up to the development, where the Port Authority currently stands, what they expect the project to produce and the problems and possible solutions that may result. Finally, McGivern will conduct a question and answer segment where residents may resolve all their questions regarding the project.

McGivern is no stranger to this area. For 22 years he served as director for KSTP-TV and has spent the past 15 years with the Port Authority.

The Nov. 8 St. Anthony Park Association meeting will be held at the United Church of Christ, Commonwealth and Chelmsford. Dinner will be served at 5:50 p.m. and the program will commence at 7 p.m. Babysitting will be available. Dinner is $5 for adults and $2.50 for children under 12. Reserve your space for this meeting by calling Jan Meyer at 647-9104.

ALWAYS! READ THE FINE PRINT.

A common misconception among people thinking about establishing a trust is that a trust company will assume total control of their assets. In reality, the creator of a revocable trust controls its terms and invariably names himself or herself as one of, if not the only, trustee. Usually a family member, friend or bank, is designated to serve as cotrustee. Our client will always provide for a successor trustee if the person or institution serving as trustee is unwilling or unable to serve. In addition, if because of death or mental incapacity the client will no longer be serving as a trustee then a dual trusteeship can also be provided for effectively checking and balancing against a sole trustee abusing his or her powers.

Shauna goes to school

By Dadee Reilly

Editor's note: In September, Dadee Reilly introduced readers to her dog, Shauna. Read on for Shauna's continued adventures.

Academic achievement holds high priority in the Park. It was, therefore, more than a little mortifying when my Irish Setter, Shauna, flunked obedience school. It was her veterinarian who first suggested some sort of formal training. "Large, exuberant dogs like Irish Setters need strong discipline," he explained one day as Shauna lay gnawing a leg on his examining room chair. He then added darkly, "Every year thousands of animals must be destroyed because they have failed to become acceptable pets." I took the hint and enrolled Shauna in a community education obedience school being offered by a school district adjacent to the Park. At four and a half months, Shauna was a little young for these classes, but her need for training was apparent and so she was accepted.

The classes were held in a large school gymnasium once a week for ten weeks. Each session was two hours long. I thought I would be handing Shauna over to a trainer each session. At the end of ten weeks, my fantasy continued, the trainer would hand me back a perfectly disciplined animal. I was wrong on all counts for I was to be trained right along with Shauna.

We were put in the beginner's class. Shauna's classmates included two shelties, a cockapoo, a black lab, an ancient cocker spaniel taking a refresher course, two surly dobermans, three mixed-breed dogs and an English sheep dog. We were quartered in the gym right next to an advanced class. A German shepherd was the star of this class. He could climb ladders, follow a series of three commands, retrieve and deliver a ball without fail, and ferret out his master's glove while blind-folded! We considered him to be a shameless show-off.

Shauna's trainer was a small, wiry man with snapping dark eyes. He intimidated all the dogs. Even the Dobermans were afraid of him. (So was I, for that matter.) The trainer explained the curriculum in a no-nonsense voice. "By the end of ten weeks," he yelled over the background barking, "these dogs will have mastered six commands: 'Come,' 'Sit,' 'Heel,' 'Stay,' 'Lie down,' and 'No.'" He went on to explain the nuances of Command Control. "Come" and "Sit" were self-explanatory. "Heel" meant the dog must stay at the master's left heel while on a leash with no moving to the right or the front. (Off-leash heeling was a matter for advanced classes and was routinely performed by the smart-aleck German shepherd. "Stay" meant that—when placed in an Augustan pose with head held high, chest thrust forward and legs outstretched—the dog must maintain the pose until permission was given to relax or until hell froze over. "Lie down" meant the dog should assume an immediate prone position. "No" meant the dog should cease and desist whatever he or she was doing—be it chasing a rabbit, climbing a fence, charging a meter person or eating a four-course dinner. To establish Command Control each dog was put on a choke-collar. I didn't like this and Shauna liked it even less.

For nine weeks Shauna and I toiled over the six commands. And we tried to avoid the wrath of the trainer who occasionally shook the living daylight out of an errant pupil. Training sessions for "Come" were particularly harrowing. Masters were placed at one end of the gym and dogs at the other. Without using hand signals, the master would give the command to "Come." Each dog was expected to whip across the floor and sit in front of his or her master. The English sheepdog loved this exercise. He would fly across the gym, gaining momentum as he moved. Unfortunately, he never seemed able to stop and he bowled his master over every session for six weeks. At the seventh session the trainer put the master against the gymnasium wall. Thereafter, the English sheepdog would come to a scrabbling halt just short of running his head into a brick wall.

During the eighth session,

Shauna cowered at the other end of the gym, reluctant to "Come." The trainer charged across the floor at me. "If that Irish doesn't come," he roared, "you go over there and snap her head off with the choke collar!" "Dear Heaven, please let her come," I prayed silently as I assumed the "Command" position. Then I yelled, "Shauna, come!" with all the force and persuasion I could muster. Shauna pattered timidly across the floor and placed herself at my feet, tail thumping the floor nervously. Her performance lacked the gusto of the English sheepdog's but it was good enough to satisfy the trainer.

The tenth session was final test night and I was a bundle of nerves. Perhaps sensing my nervousness, Shauna quivered with repressed hyperactivity. The test for "Heel" was a disaster. When Shauna went left, I went right. When I went left, she went right. We sometimes collided in a cacophony of misjudgment. The final tests for "Come," "Stay," "Lie down," and "No" were not much better. The only test we passed was "Sit." Shauna and I had flunked.

"She's still pretty young for obedience school," the trainer said consolingly at the end of the final session, his eyes somehow less menacing. He told me that, for no additional fee, we could return for another series of sessions when Shauna was "a little more mature."

So two months later we again entered obedience school. While not a Rhodes scholar, Shauna did moderately well until final test night. Then, once again, "Heel" was our undoing. Observing our anxiety, the trainer took us into a small anteroom. There, free from the stresses of public performance, we repeated the "Heel" test. By the slimmest of margins we passed. At the conclusion of the evening, the trainer shook my hand and awarded me Shauna's certificate of graduation.

Today little evidence remains of Shauna's two ventures into higher education. She "comes" when she wants to and has apparently blocked out all painful memories of "Heel." She responds to "Lie down" only when she is tired. And "No" may be screamed at any decibel level without bringing so much as a flick of her eyelash. "Stay" has little meaning since Shauna will not even assume the pose in which she's supposed to stay.

But she has never forgotten "Sit." It is her one great concession to Command Control. Shauna may be running headlong across the street in search of high adventure and in the company of jolly canine companions. But a shouted command of "Sit" will bring her to a bone-rattling halt. There she will remain—in the middle of the street—until I, muttering "Sit" every step of the way, grab her collar and haul her back home. It may not be much by the high academic standards of St. Anthony Park, but it's better than nothing.

Four St. Anthony Park young people will be performing in the Northwest Ballet's production of "The Nutcracker Ballet" this coming holiday season. They are Katrina Freiling, Claire Hruby, Maia Tryggstad and Laurel Turek. The ballet will run Nov. 25-Dec. 3 at Northrop Auditorium.

Truda Stockenstrom has been part of the cast of "Noises Off" performed by the Actors Theatre in downtown St. Paul this fall. The play continues until Nov. 5.

Miriam Minger, who lived in St. Anthony Park until this past summer, has written her first novel, "Twin Passions," a historical romance set in the 10th century England and Norway. The book has received a four star rating from "Romantic Times," a review publication.

As a contribution to New Sweden '88, a joint concert of Finnish and Swedish traditional instrumental and vocal folk music will be presented Fri., Nov. 11, 8 p.m., at St. Clement's Episcopal Church, 901 Portland Ave., St. Paul. The program will be presented by Koivun Kaiku, a Finnish ensemble, and Gloria Morris-Grothe, Swedish folksinger from Lauderdale. Assisting musicians include Elizabeth Almlof, soprano, Michael Ziegahn, guitar/lute and Gordy Abel, bass. Mrs. Almlof is originally from Rattvik in Dalarna, Sweden.

Using the Swedish vernacular language, Gloria Morris-Grothe bases her performances of traditional songs and ballads upon musicological research conducted in Sweden and the U.S.

The concert is open to the public, with a suggested donation of $4 at the door. For further information, call 646-5186 or 331-5819.

SUNDAY BRUNCH:

A TRUE STORY

Wanna hear a wonderful food story — almost a fairy tale, except it's true? OK. It's one of those Sunday mornings like they don't make anymore. You head over to one of your favorite haunts, Muffuletta In The Park. There you encounter, to your virtually unbearable delight:

Orange or Spicy Tomato Juice • Homemade Muffins & Caramel Nut Rolls • Fresh, Fresh Fruit • Eggs Benedict • Eggs Florentine Carbona • Crispy Vegetables & Homemade Dressings • Sherried Mushroom Bisque • Pasta Salads • Pan-roasted Chicken with Wild Mushrooms • Pacific Salmon, Poached in White Wine Served with Dill Sauce • Fettuccine Alfredo • Homemade Sweet and Tangy Lemon Sherbet

All that served in an elegant setting and for only $10.95; Your little folk, $5.95. Isn't that a terrific story? No villain, not a lot to think about, happy ending. Good family entertainment.

Brunch at Muffuletta: 10:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. Sundays

Canadian pianist comes to Park

Prior to winning the Prestigious Leeds International Piano Competition in 1984, Canadian pianist Jon Kimura Parker had never in his life made a long distance telephone call to Europe. "But when I got back [to his New York City apartment] after Leeds, I was on that phone to Europe for an average of 40 minutes a day for the next month," Parker recalls.

His win at Leeds promptly brought a host of performing engagements—no surprise to Robert Cockcroft of London's

Jon Kimura Parker

Classical Music magazine, who wrote: "So the best man won...there is little doubt that 1984 rates as the most interesting and exciting in the 21-year history of the event." Jon Kimura Parker has also won virtually every competition in his native Canada, including the 1983 CBC Radio Talent Competition. In 1985, the Canadian Music Council named him "Performer of the Year."

Since then Parker has performed with Washington's National Symphony Orchestra, the Los Angeles Philharmonic with Andre Previn, the London Philharmonic with Klaus Tennstedt and the London Symphony under Rafael Fruhbeck de Burgos, in addition to performances on tour in Europe and the Far East. In a review of his Washington, D.C., debut recital, the Washington Post reviewer said of him, "His artistry is mature, his technique is highly polished and his warm personality graces the music he plays."

Concertgoers in St. Anthony Park will have an opportunity to see and hear this exciting young pianist for themselves at the second Music in the Park concert on Sun., Nov. 13 at 7 p.m. at St. Anthony Park United Church of Christ. Joining Parker for a reunion of the trio they formed while students at the Juilliard School will be violinist Leslie Shank and cellist John Sharp. They'll perform music of Minnesota composer Marjorie Rusche, Zoltan Kodaly and will conclude with music by Tchaikovsky.

Leslie Shank is well-known to Twin City audiences as assistant concertmaster of the St. Paul Chamber Orchestra, where she is in her fifth season. As winner of Artists International's Eighth Annual Young Musicians Auditions, she gave her New York debut in 1980, receiving enthusiastic acclaim from the critics. Miss Shank has participated in the Aspen, Cleveland and Marlboro chamber music festivals, and in April of this season she will be playing an East Coast tour with "Musicians from Marlboro."

Awarded the bronze medal at Moscow's prestigious Tchaikovsky Competition in 1986, John Sharp joined the Chicago Symphony Orchestra the same year as principal cellist. He has performed in recital and with orchestras throughout the U.S. In May, 1987, he shared the spotlight with Music Director Sir Georg Solti in subscription concert performances of Dvorak's Cello Concerto.

Tickets for the Nov. 13 concert at $8 are available at the Bibelot Shop (646-5651) and Micawber's Bookstore (646-5506). Student rush tickets at concert time are $4. For further information, call 644-4234.

FRAME OF REFERENCE

You thought your house was worth $90,000 but your neighbor just sold his very similar house for $140,000. How can you determine if your house is worth a lot more than you think it is or whether the higher sale was just a matter of luck?

I make a practice of charting actual sale prices in the area. This information, which we call "comparable sales data," is used as a general frame of reference. To this base would be added specific property related criteria to arrive at a reasonable market value for a particular home.

In addition to pure numbers, emotion plays a role in a buyer's decision. That, and other, factors, such as supply and demand, and current market may lead a buyer to pay more for a home than the land, bricks and mortar appear to be worth. This is especially true in St. Anthony Park.

I would be happy to share our comparable sales data with you and give you a good idea of the current market value of your home.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please call Edina Realty, 2780 Snelling Ave. No. Phone: 636-3760. We're here to help!

Video training

Those 18 or older who are beginners or have prior training can learn how to produce programs for cable television. Intensive hands-on experience is included in a six-week course conducted on Saturdays, 10 a.m.-2 p.m., beginning Nov. 12. Participants who successfully complete the class will be certified to use Cable Access St. Paul equipment at little or no fee. CASP members are eligible for a $10 discount on the course fee of $40. There is also a $5 charge for supplies. Class will take place at Cable Access, 213 E. 4th St., St. Paul. To register, call St. Anthony Park Community Education office at 293-8738.

South Africa

A series of three programs on South Africa will be presented at Falcon Heights United Church of Christ, 1795 Holton, during Nov. On Nov. 13, Dr. Wesley St. John, emeritus professor at Hamline University will speak on "South Africa: History and the Contemporary Scene." On Nov. 20, Theodore and Betty Homdrom, Lutheran missionaries in South Africa who now live in St. Anthony Park, will discuss "The Reaction of the Christian Church to South Africa." On Nov. 27 Dr. St. John will speak on "South Africa: Impact on the Region." Each session begins at 10:30 a.m. Call 646-2681.

Library events for kids

Toddler storytimes for 2-year-olds and parents will be offered by the St. Anthony Park Branch Library on Fridays at 10:30 a.m. from Nov. 18 through Dec. 16. Books, puppets, fingerplays, music, crafts and films will be featured. Please register by calling 292-6635 or by stopping in at the library.

The Puppet Tellers, Heron & Fiona Gardner, will perform at 4 p.m. Wed., Nov. 23. The St. Anthony Park father-daughter team will present two puppet plays based on stories by St. Paul author, Judy Delton. The Goose Who Wrote A Book is a whimsical fable about the creative process. Two Is Company explores the themes of friendship and jealousy.

Every aspect of their theater is "home grown" including their colorful puppets which they make themselves.

The Puppet Tellers, Heron & Fiona Gardner, will perform at SAP Library on Nov. 23 at 4 p.m.

Turkey time!

Gobble! Gobble! Preschoolers are invited to a fun-filled hour of Thanksgiving activities Tues., Nov. 22, 6:30-7:30 p.m., at the Falcon Heights City Hall. Cost is $2. Parents are welcome to participate.

Fare SHARE needs your fair share

Minnesota Fare SHARE, the nonprofit food distribution project of Ramsey Action Programs, needs volunteers to assist in bagging and sorting foodstuffs and for other light warehouse work. The warehouse is located in St. Anthony Park at 807 Hampden Ave.

The work is easy and suited for all ages 10 and over. Families are encouraged to work together. Youth groups, clubs of all kinds and individuals of any age are invited to volunteer. It is estimated that one hour of work will help about 60 families.

Hours for Nov. are Sat., Nov. 12, 8 a.m.-3 p.m.; Mon., Nov. 14-Fri., Nov. 18, 8 a.m.-9 p.m.; and Sat., Nov. 19, distribution day, until 1 p.m.

Fare SHARE food packages are distributed monthly through over 260 community distribution sites to over 30,000 people in Minn. and parts of Wis., Iowa, and S.D. A typical food package consists of 15-20 items—meats, vegetables, fruits and staples worth $28-$35 for a cost of $12 cash or food stamps and two hours of volunteer community service.

For information on volunteering or how to get your Fare SHARE (the program is open to anybody, regardless of income), call 644-6003.

Aging

Twin City Linnea Home invites the community to a program on aging entitled, "Shades of Grey with Bob Payton." The one hour musical presentation is Wed., Nov. 9, 2:30 p.m. at 2040 Como Ave. Refreshments will be served.

Fiber Fair

The Weavers' Guild of Minnesota's 32nd annual sale of extraordinary handwoven and handcrafted fiber art will be held Fri. and Sat., Nov. 4 and 5, 10 a.m.-9 p.m., and Sun., Nov. 6, noon-5 p.m., at Bandana Square. This year 40 of the Guild's members are selling original works including decorative and home accessory items and clothing. Profits from the sale go to support the educational programs of the Guild.

Some of the final photos of David Shippee are now on display at the University of Minnesota. Shippee was a St. Anthony Park photographer and, in fact, a Bugle photographer, who died in China in 1986 at the age of 29. The show, "David Shippee: People and Places of Far Western China," will be on display on the third floor of Northrop Auditorium at the University Art Museum until Dec. 11.

German Connection

The Lyra Concert will perform a concert with this title on Sat., Nov. 5 at 8 p.m. at Luther Northwestern Seminary Campus Center at the corner of Fulham and Hendon. Included in the program will be works by Telemann, J.S. Bach, Quantz and C.P.E. Bach.

Flute virtuoso Robert Willoughby will be guest conductor and soloist for this chamber concert. He is a founding member of both the Oberlin Baroque Ensemble and the Oberlin Woodwind Quintet, as well as a longtime member of the Oberlin Baroque Performance Institute and the Smithsonian Chamber Players.

Tickets are $12 with discounts for students, seniors and MPR members. Group rates are also available. For ticket information call 221-0937.

Chapel dedication

On Sun., Nov. 20, 2 p.m., Bishop Lowell Erdahl, bishop of the Saint Paul Area Synod of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of America, will dedicate the chapel at Twin City at Linnea Home, 2040 Como Ave. The public is cordially invited to this event. A reception will follow.

Children's Book Week

Arthur Yorinks, noted author of the 1987 Caldecott Award winner, Hey, Al, will appear at St. Anthony Park Branch Library on Mon., Nov. 14, 7 p.m., in honor of National Children's Book Week. Mr. Yorinks has also written other children's books as well as writing, teaching and performing in the American Mime Theatre and serving as artistic director of The Moving Theater in New York. He is writing an opera based on Hey, Al.

Thanksgiving Lunch

A festive turkey dinner with all the trimmings will be served Thurs., Nov. 17, 12:30 p.m., at Murray Junior High. For those who arrive prior to 12:30 p.m. punch will be served in the library. Entertainment will be provided in the auditorium following the luncheon. Bus transportation can be provided for groups. Preregistration is required. To register, call the Community Education office at 293-8738. Cost is $1.75, to be collected the day of the luncheon.

Eat, swim & teach

The St. Anthony Park Community Education program is offering three classes in holiday cookie baking for $17 per person. Classes are held at Murray Junior High on Tues., Dec. 6 or Thurs., Dec. 8, 6:30-9:30 p.m. and Sat. Dec. 10, 9 a.m.-noon. Bring an apron and containers large enough to hold several dozen cookies. All ingredients are supplied. Register by calling 293-8738.

New hours for swimming have been set. Lap swim hours are Mon., Wed., Thurs. and Fri., 5-6:30 p.m.; Tues., 5-6 p.m.; and Sat., 8:30-10 a.m. Open Swim hours are Mon., 7-9 p.m.; Wed., 8-9 p.m.; Fri., 6:30-7:30 p.m. and Sat., 10 a.m.-noon. These hours are in effect through Dec. 15. Cost is only $1 per time.

The Community Education program is seeking persons who have academic, business, craft, hobby or recreational skills and would like to lead or instruct neighbors. Classes and activities are conducted at Murray and at St. Anthony Park Elementary School and can be directed toward youth or adults. The winter quarter begins the week of Jan. 23. Announcement of those classes must be coordinated by Nov. 15. Call 293-8738 if you are interested.

IT'S YOUR CHOICE

ARE YOU SURE YOUR CONGRESSMAN IS REPRESENTING YOU?

Compare Congressman Bruce Vento (Dem.) and Challenger Ian Maitland (Rep.) on this sample of issues.

1. POLITICAL ACTION COMMITTEES (PACs)

VENTO is critical of the influence of special interest PACs, but he takes their money anyway.

MAITLAND is critical of PACs, and he is refusing their contributions.

2. DRUGS

VENTO voted against random drug and alcohol testing for airline pilots, train operators and truckers. (Vento gets PAC money from airline and rail unions and the teamsters.)

MAITLAND believes this is clearly a case where the need to protect the public safety outweighs the individual's right to privacy.

3. PORK-BARREL

VENTO has voted for federal giveaways to the dairy lobby, sugar producers, United Auto Workers, maritime unions, construction unions, etc. — at your expense (if you are a consumer or taxpayer). Vento gets PAC contributions from the same special interests.

MAITLAND will go on the warpath against privileged treatment for special interests.

4. TRADE

VENTO says a military solution can't work in Central America because that region's problems are caused by poverty and social injustice; then he votes to perpetuate the region's poverty by erecting barriers to its products.

MAITLAND believes the way to help poor countries help themselves is by opening our market to their goods. That makes 3 winners: the poor countries, U.S. consumers and U.S. foreign policy.

TOTAL AGREE WITH VENTO ☐ TOTAL AGREE WITH MAITLAND ☐

Surprised? Maybe it's time to vote for a Republican for a change.

Is an annuity the right investment for you?

Annuities — long-term, tax-deferred investment options — are enjoying a surge in popularity this year. And why not? Annuities are secure, competitively priced, offer guaranteed returns and have no sales fees, ceilings or market risk. And don't forget, the money earned on an annuity remains tax-deferred under the Tax Reform Act.

See your personal banker today about a single premium, tax-deferred annuity.*

Checking and savings are just the beginning

People are turning to banks for more than the basics these days. And with good reason. First Bank recognizes the complex needs of our customers and has an ever-expanding range of financial management options and banking opportunities to meet those needs.

First Bank offers investments and personal loans. Home mortgages through FBS Mortgage. Stocks and mutual funds through FBS Brokerage Services. Life insurance through First Insurance and trusts through First Trust.

You deserve answers to all your financial questions — and your First Bank personal banker has them.

First Bank System sponsors "Senior Options Expo"

First Bank System shows its commitment to the senior community through major sponsorship of the upcoming Senior Options Expo. Held at the St. Paul Civic Center on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 28 and 29, Senior Options is the Midwest's largest lifestyle and resource exposition to acquaint pre-retirees, seniors and their families with services, products and activities designed especially for them.

Birds and Feeding Preference

A National Wildlife Federation study has found that the most popular food of seed eating birds is the Black Sunflower. White Millet is popular among sparrows and juncos. Safflower seed is only eaten by cardinals, but they actually prefer Black Sunflower almost four to one. Niger Thistle seed is highly attractive to goldfinches and Pine siskins. The other seeds found in mixes rate considerably below the above-mentioned seeds and are included for visual attractiveness and economy.

At Park Hardware, we offer seed in bags or in bulk, by the pound or pounds. You can offer specialty seeds in different feeders or create your own mix.

Stop in and look over our selection and study our copy of the Wild Bird Feeding Preferences Pamphlet.

News*Como High School

On Oct. 7, Governor Perpich made a personal visit to Como. For about an hour he promoted community service involvement in high schools. The Governor's goal is to enact a plan to offer a non-mandatory, accredited class in youth service in high schools statewide.

He came to Como, in particular, because it offers an accredited class for high school community volunteers. The class is titled LIFE Connection, LIFE standing for Leaders In a Friendly Environment.

The governor's presentation included a speech and the official signing of the proclamation. Afterwards he spent time congratulating and thanking Como's class for its participation.

The Governor's visit raised interest at Como, while it also brought some deserved recognition to Como's participation in this community service project.

Meanwhile, on a separate note, Vince Copa should be recognized for his attainment of the Rotary Club Leadership Award. Along with the recognition this award provides went the opportunity to attend a leadership workshop last spring.

While recognizing Vince, we should also note that Andy Karvonen was nominated to attend Boys' State at St. John's University in Collegeville in June. He had the opportunity to participate in the Boys' State Band as well.

In addition, Susan McKinnell should be recognized for qualifying as a statewide semi-finalist for the National Merit Scholarship. She earned the fifth highest score in the state! Congratulations on this prestigious honor.

Corpus Christi

Corpus Christi Catholic School has won the 1988 State Champion Physical Fitness Award, presented annually by the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports. The award was given in the category for schools with 101 to 500 students.

Murray Junior High

This year Daniel Larson and Kristin Ulstad, both seventh graders, have been accepted to the University of Minnesota Talented Youth Math Program. During the first year they will be studying 9th grade Algebra I and 11th grade Algebra II-Trig. In the second year they will learn 10th grade Geometry and 12th grade Analysis. 1268 students from public, private city schools and suburban schools took the test, including seven students from Murray, but only 114 students were accepted.

The boys' and girls' soccer teams have begun their seasons. The boys soccer team has won two games, lost one game and tied one game. The girls soccer team has won one game, lost two games and tied one game. Both teams have their games on Wednesdays and Fridays. The coach for the boys soccer team is John Olson, a science teacher. Pat Cherrier, a Challenge Social Studies teacher, is the coach for the girls soccer team.

There are many events coming up in Nov. On Nov. 3 the local ministers are coming to tour the school. Nov. 4 is an inservice day so there is no school for students. Parent conferences are on Nov. 10 and 16 from 5-8 p.m. Nov. 14-18 is American Education Week. Parents may come to visit classrooms during classes on Nov. 15. Also during American Education Week, there will be a senior citizen luncheon. The Thanksgiving holiday is Nov. 24-25.

Falcon Heights Elementary

On Thur., Oct. 6, Falcon Heights Elementary School had an open house to which students and parents were invited. During the open house, the classrooms were open and parents could meet the teachers. For most of them it was their first time.

At the open house a pizza dinner was served with the help of fifth and sixth grade volunteers. During the supper the Robinettes singing group performed. A book fair also took place during the evening at which books were sold for all ages and all tastes. The profits will benefit the Falcon Heights PTSA.

Obituaries

Mathilde Elliott

Mathilde Rice Elliott died Oct. 1, 1988, at the age of 92. She was the widow of Dr. Richard M. Elliott, founder of the Department of Psychology at the University of Minnesota.

A member of a pioneer St. Paul family, Mrs. Elliott was the granddaughter of Henry M. Rice, fur trader, Indian agent, land speculator and one of Minnesota's first two U.S. senators. In 1915, when the Minnesota legislature selected Rice as one of the state's representatives in the capitol's Statuary Hall, it was Mathilde Elliott who unveiled the statue at the formal acceptance ceremony.

Mrs. Elliott was educated privately in St. Paul, attended Miss Eastman's classes in Washington and studied at a convent school in France. She lived in Paris for six years, working as a secretary for the American Red Cross and as a translator for the American Embassy. After returning to this country, she was employed by New York's Metropolitan Museum of Art. She met Prof. Elliott in Washington when she was serving in Walter Reed Hospital and he was developing a psychological testing program for the U.S. Army.

During the 1930s, Mrs. Elliott was a staff member of the Minneapolis Institute of Arts, doing research, lecturing and producing an innovative weekly radio program. She worked in University Hospitals during World War II and later acted as translator for doctors and their patients who came here from France for heart surgery. In recent years, prior to her long illness, she recorded books and produced poetry programs for Services for the Blind and Talking Books radio.

She is survived by cousins, nieces and nephews including a niece, Mrs. Mary L. R. Wyvell, who lives in Falcon Heights.

Bettie Comstock

Bettie V. Comstock of St. Anthony Park died Sept. 20, 1988, at the age of 68 as a result of polycystic kidney disease.

Bettie and her husband Verne moved to their old

Victorian home on Langford Park in 1955 and raised their six children there.

Mrs. Comstock loved gardening and enjoyed tending her rose garden and greenhouse exotics. She had a great love of travel and nature and enjoyed camping with her family in Minnesota, across the U.S. and abroad.

Comstock is survived by her husband Verne; her mother Elizabeth Armstrong of Iowa City, Iowa; sons, Verne Jr. of Blaine and David of Iowa City, Iowa; and daughters Barbara, now in Rochelle, Ill., Gayle of Camden, Maine, and Jane of Blaine; as well as 12 grandchildren.

Ruth Berens

Ruth Berens, longtime resident of St. Anthony Park, died on Oct. 1, 1988, at the age of 75 after a lengthy illness and years of deteriorating health.

The Berens family moved to St. Anthony Park in 1938, living first at 2422 Como Ave., and then in 1940 buying another home on Como, where her son still lives.

Mrs. Berens was a 1934 graduate of the University of Minnesota with a bachelor of science degree. She worked during the 1930s on the St. Paul campus in veterinary medicine and then, during the 1940s and 1950s, worked on the Minneapolis campus, first in the Cancer Detection Center and then later in the Heart Hospital. During the 1960s she enrolled in the College of St. Thomas to obtain education credits. She taught elementary school for the Archdiocese of St. Paul and Minneapolis for several years. She retired from teaching in 1974 due to declining health.

Mrs. Berens was a charter member of Corpus Christi Catholic Church. Survivors include her son, Stephen, and her sister, Rosemary Lueck, both of St. Anthony Park.

William Eggenberger

William H. Eggenberger, longtime Lauderdale resident, died Sept. 14, 1988, at the age of 86. He grew up in Lake City, Minn., and came to Lauderdale at the age of 42. Most of his working years were spent in employment at the Rose Hill Nursery in Lauderdale. He loved to garden in his leisure time as well.

Eggenberger is survived by his daughter Mary Eggenberger of Lauderdale; two sisters, Elsie Wisen of Lauderdale and Marion Heitman of Red Wing; as well as nieces and nephews.

George Pederson

George Pederson, a former longtime resident of St. Anthony Park, died on Sept. 28, 1988 at the age of 81. Pederson lived for many years on Carter Avenue, then moved to Falcon Heights, before moving to Roseville a few years ago.

The former general manager of the Twin City Milk Producers Association, Pederson was a native of Franklin, Minn. He was graduated from the University of Minnesota in 1929 and began working as a salesman for Land O'Lakes in Pittsburgh. He later joined Twin City Milk Producers and worked his way up to become general manager in 1962. In 1970, he helped to bring about the merger with Mid-Served Dairymen, Inc. and American vice president and general manager of the new organization's northern division until his retirement in 1971.

Pederson is survived by his wife Myrna and three sons, Richard of Albuquerque, George Jr. of Fort Worth and Donald of Bend, Oregon.

Michelle Misener

Michelle Misener of Falcon Heights died Oct. 13, 1988, at the age of 13. She would have been a seventh grader at Roseville Area Middle School but she slipped under bath water the first day of school and lost consciousness. She remained in a coma until her death 39 days later.

She is survived by her parents the Rev. Patrick and Mrs. Judy Misener, her brother Jeremy and sister Jamie Lynn as well as her grandparents Gene and Martha Misener of Brainerd and Cecil and Clarine Sander, also of Brainerd.
