

Gas to replace coal for heating St. Paul Campus

University of Minnesota Regents voted 9-3 on April 10 to give Foster Wheeler Power Systems of New Jersey a 25-year, $750 million contract to heat both Twin Cities campuses. The contract is expected to be signed this summer.

The University's present heating contractor is Northern Heating Power Company, which uses coal exclusively and stores much of it in large piles behind Commonwealth Terrace student housing. Coal has been a problem for several years for Terrace residents and clients of Community Child Care Center, whose playground abuts the coal piles.

Foster Wheeler will use both coal and gas in its heating systems, but natural gas alone will be used in St. Paul. New natural gas-fired boilers will be installed on the St. Paul campus. Foster Wheeler will build and operate the boilers and the University's current steam plant workers will become Foster Wheeler employees. Five to ten jobs are expected to be lost, less than the number that would have

Search begins for new Job Corps director

By Mary Mergenthal

Job Corps director Michael Ryan resigned unexpectedly on March 30 for "personal reasons." He had been the subject of considerable institutional and community debate as allegations surfaced about discipline problems on campus, poor management and lack of support for staff.

Ryan was immediately replaced by Joseph Duda, the National Director of Job Corps Operations for the Vinnell Corporation, the private company that has the contract with the U.S. Department of Labor to run the Humphrey Job Corps Center. Duda will serve as acting director until a permanent replacement for Ryan is named.

Duda and the Job Corps personnel manager are interviewing local applicants and are beginning a national search for a new director. Based on their initial recommendations, Vinnell (in Fairfax, Va.) will review the final applicants and submit a name to the Dept. of Labor. Vinnell and/or the Dept. of Labor may request further interviews before the director is selected.

Asked about the composition of the student body, Duda indicated that the two campus recruiters will continue to seek to serve Minnesota students who need Job Corps services, as well as students from other states. The number of students from hard-core areas in Detroit and Chicago has been on ongoing community concern.

Duda also indicated that the Job Corps would be initiating a more active public relations program in the metro area using public service announcements on local media and other avenues to tell the Job Corps story.

Duda said the Job Corps continues to encourage neighbors with specific concerns to call, with anonymity that if they wish anonymity callers could be assigned a case number rather than identifying themselves. A new monthly newsletter will be distributed the first Wednesday of each month. It will include a postage-paid comment/suggestion card which can be returned to the center.

Jeff Dains, Lauderdale's new mayor, has been busy with a variety of city issues since his election in November.

Mayor Dains aims for teamwork

By Corinna Nelson

There wasn't a gradual easing-in period for Jeffrey Dains, Lauderdale's new mayor. On Jan. 14 he took office. On Jan. 30 he helped fight off an attempt by Ramsey County's Local Government Services Study Commission to require Lauderdale to pay for maintenance of several county roads, 1.8 of its total 4.8 miles of roads. Dains informed the commission that it was not feasible for Lauderdale to maintain county roads without Municipal State Aid (MSA). Such monies are available only to cities with populations over 5,000.

A proposal by Ramsey County to share a $100,000 pool to assist cities with populations under 5,000 with local costs was killed in legislative committee. Lauderdale, White Bear Township, North Oaks and Gem Lake have populations below 5,000 and are not eligible for MSA monies.

Dains helped organize a petition drive in February and the commission backed off for the time being from requiring Lauderdale to maintain the roads with its own funds. Lauderdale would have had to finance the road maintenance through additional taxes. Dains says that Lauderdale won't raise taxes yet.

He hopes to save Lauderdale additional money by having municipal law and administrative questions handled, when possible, by city administrator Kathleen Miller instead of by Lauderdale's city attorney. Miller was hired on contract from Roseville in early August, 1991, as an administrative liaison. Lauderdale hired her as administrator on April 1.

The mayorship has been a "very positive experience, even with these unexpected things," says Dains. He and the five-member council, three of whom are new, rose to their next challenge by finalizing in January the refinancing of bonds for Rose Hill Estates. The prior Lauderdale city council had worked on refinancing, which will save Lauderdale substantial monies.

"I think we're really working as a team," says Dains. "I really like that." Dains, a Lauderdale resident since 1985 and a city council member since 1989, has plans for issues ranging from improving working conditions for Lauderdale employees to park improvements. One of his goals is to increase community spirit.

Lauderdale has begun organizing a crime watch. Canvassing of several blocks per month began in April. Dains will also establish a

University busway begins operation

By Kristin Copa

Travel along the University of Minnesota's busway linking the Minneapolis and St. Paul campuses began with unforeseen trouble as well as new possibilities.

In its first month of use an accident took place along the busway, according to Paul Tschida, assistant vice president of health and safety at the University.

A worker leaving an area factory at 7:30 a.m. was hit by a bus as he either missed or failed to come to a complete stop at a sign. The worker survived the accident, but was treated at a hospital following the collision on the Minneapolis end of the thoroughfare, Tschida said.

Bus drivers are cautioned to drive more slowly until the conditions leading to the accident can be evaluated, he said.

Tschida said his department is also looking into bicycle use on the route, including the possible construction of a bike path. He met with people from the state Bike Advisory Board, who recommended a separate path because of the narrowness of the busway.

A limited number of buses started using the route at the end of March. University buses continue to also use city streets, but some of this traffic will shift to the busway as construction progresses. Construction of Phase II of the busway past

Raymond Avenue will begin as the construction season allows, University official Harvey Turner said.

The busway will cross Raymond just south of the existing Burlington-Northern bridge, he said.

Continuing along the route parkings to be an issue. Use of the Schnitzer lot in Minneapolis near KSTP, though favored by Turner, is in question because of PCB contamination—the lot was once used as a scrapyard.

"My feeling is that we need as much of that remote intercept auto parking adjacent to the transit-way as we can get," he said. "It allows us to put people away from either of the two campuses and I see it as a replacement for the Como lot."

The University Department of Health and Safety, University attorneys, the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency and people representing the Schnitzer family are working to reach an understanding about cleaning up the lot, he said.

University officials are also using the lot to test state-of-the-art equipment. The route may be used to test Auto-Scope, a new technology developed at the University. It consists of a camera in the shape of a small box that is able to monitor the speed of vehicles by tracking their movement over marks on the roadway.

Traffic changes planned at Hendon/Como

At the April 2 meeting of the Physical Planning Committee of the St. Anthony Park Community Council, Bob Hamilton of the Department of Public Works presented his department's plan for reconfiguration of the Hendon/Como intersection. The changes are designed to improve sight distance for traffic entering Como from Brompton. To accomplish this, on-street parking on Como near the intersection would be removed. To accommodate concerns of residents there, the 2-hour parking limit on Brompton would be removed, thus allowing neighbors and their guests to park in spaces which currently are kept open for possible use by Group Health clients and employees.

Another goal of the planned changes is to define and tighten the Hendon/Como intersection and to slow down traffic entering the intersection. Slower speeds will be necessary because the new configuration will require drivers to enter Hendon more cautiously than is currently the case.

The department indicated that 2500 vehicles per day use Hendon, a volume that warrants an upgrade. Temporary asphalt will be used, allowing the department to make changes in a few years should that become necessary.

A new curb cut for the upcoming Lutheran Social Services (LSS) building will introduce new traffic conflicts near the intersection, making the reconfiguration of the present intersection all the more important. LSS plans an office building on the former site of Aasgaard Hall, which was demolished early in 1990.

The Department of Public Works (DPW) is ready to implement this construction this spring.

In addition, DPW has agreed to install stop signs on Keston at Doswell, as requested by neighbors, and will continue to discuss stopping Carter at Keston or introducing a traffic circle at this intersection.

School crossings near St. Anthony Park Elementary will have special signs installed and a 20 MPH speed limit implemented in May.

All these planned traffic changes, and more, will be discussed at the next St. Anthony Park Community Council ad hoc Traffic Planning Committee meeting on Tues., May 5, 7 p.m., at South St. Anthony Recreation Center, 890 Cromwell Ave. Anyone who wishes to comment is encouraged to attend or call the council office at 292-7884.

been lost had the Regents selected the other candidate, Arkla, the parent company of Minnegasco. Arkla would have relied on natural gas alone on both campuses.

University and student environmental groups had urged the Regents to choose Arkla for several reasons. They objected to the use of coal because of its environmental pollutants and favored Arkla's plan for removing two existing power plants from the Minneapolis campus riverfront, which would have allowed the University to use that valuable land in other ways.

Under the new contract, Foster Wheeler will close one of the two steam plants on the east bank of the Mississippi River. The other plant will get new boilers burning mostly coal. Obtaining air-quality permits for the new boilers could take several years more, however, and a student leader of one of the environmental groups opposed to burning coal warned the fight may continue.

A University analysis said either the Arkla or Foster Wheeler proposal would dramatically reduce air pollution from current levels.

Foster Wheeler's plan (as well as Arkla's) has a "co-generation" component that involves generating electricity as a by-product of making steam. That electricity is expected to be enough to power all the University's lights and motors.

Como Park Community Council Parking issues addressed at April meeting

By Linda Johnson

Parking continued to be a major part of the agenda at the April 21 District 10 Community Council meeting at Lyngblomsten Senior Center.

The $88,000 plan to renovate the driveway in front of Como Park Elementary School was approved after representatives from St. Paul Schools and Como Elementary fielded questions. Safety issues figured predominantly in final approval of the plan. Representatives from St. Paul Schools argued that the expense of renovating the driveway would be significantly less than any negligence lawsuits incurred by a child being killed or injured.

Michael Kline, administrator of Sholom Home, discussed tentative proposals for dealing with parking problems on Midway Parkway and entertained suggestions. As a result of the discussion, the Midway Parkway Task Force was reconvened to deal with these issues. Many neighbors interested in the issue signed up to join the task force. Anyone interested in joining can contact the District 10 community organizer, Keri Poepppe, at 644-3889.

Lyngblomsten Senior Center set up a land use committee to discuss construction possibilities. Wallace Hauge, president, announced that this task force is in the planning stages and will be working with the community. Meetings are set for May 6 and 7. Anyone is welcome to participate.

The environmental committee announced that Goodwill Industries would like to try a pilot textile recycling program in District 10. The program would involve all types of textiles with curbside pickup being set for July. Curbside recycling of small appliances would also be part of this pilot program. Details of the program will be discussed at the next District 10 meeting.

The environmental committee also announced that District 10 had received an America the Beautiful grant of $1,000 which will be used to employ a landscape architect to help the committee prioritize projects for the neighborhood. Other concerns of the committee include reinstituting a Christmas tree pickup program, contacting lawn sign volunteers and setting up the next neighborhood clean-up program for Saturday, Sept. 26. The next meeting of the committee is May 27, 7 p.m., at Lyngblomsten Senior Center.

Tim Weiss, representative of Gabe's, received approval to keep his patio open until midnight with the stipulation that he would go back to an earlier closing if complaints should occur, until substantiated complaints could be addressed.

Finally, representatives from the Job Corps gave a brief update on issues causing neighborhood concern and stressed that any person experiencing problems should bring complaints to the attention of the District 10 Council. The Neighborhood Advisory Committee has been putting in many hours grappling with these issues.

Pat Rife's presentation on crime prevention was postponed until the May meeting.

committee to coordinate compliance with city ordinances. Kathleen Miller is consolidating parking rules into one ordinance. When she completes this process, she will begin consolidating the solid waste and zoning ordinances. Dains will also look at grants to improve homes and Lauderdale's park.

Prior to his involvement with Lauderdale politics, Dains worked on environmental issues. He hopes to organize an environmental day in the fall to discuss recycling, waste and compost, as well as a compost day in May to help prevent citations for improper bins. In addition to the several sites known to contain hazardous wastes such as PCBs, Dains is aware that the site at 3301 Como, previously owned by Trussbilt, needs to be cleaned up and is working to have this done.

Dains will continue the annual Day in the Park, though it may be held later than June this year, and he will continue the Halloween party. He and the council are looking at ways to spend a $4500 pot of donations given by the Lions and other sources for Parks and Recreation. He wouldn't mind having a picnic shelter, he says. The experience of council member Cynthia Wheeler, a trail planner for the Department of Natural Resources, may be especially helpful in park planning, he said.

The new mayor has worked on team building with the council as well as shaving council meeting time down by as much as several hours per meeting. Citizen attendance at council meetings varies with the issue, he says, and noted that cable viewers can now see the televised meetings at home. "I think the citizens of Lauderdale are very cooperative," he concluded.

Fractured fairy tales on program for community chorus concert

By Anne Turek

Musical settings of two familiar fairy tales will provide a special treat for family audiences as the St. Anthony Park Community Chorus presents its spring performance. The concert will be held on Tues., May 19 at St. Anthony Park United Methodist Church, Como and Hillside Avenues, at 7:30 p.m.

"Jack and the Beanstalk" and "Little Red Riding Hood" will be performed as mini-oratorios in settings by the chorus' music director Linda Herrmann. Herrmann has set the well-known tales to music that may itself sound familiar in places, combining the style of a Handelian oratorio with the musical humor of Peter Schieckele's P.D.Q. Bach. "Little Red Riding Hood" and "Jack and the Beanstalk" were composed by Herrmann in 1986 and 1987 for performance by the Santa Fe Desert Chorale, with which she has been closely associated. Both pieces feature as soloists chorus members Barbara Nelson, Peter Hudleston, Bob Kriel and Linda Herrmann, with guest artists Steve Johnston and Reuben Dahlquist.

The first half of the May 19 concert showcases the talents of the chorus in selections of choral music ranging from Renaissance-era melodies to arrangements of old favorites such as "Sweet and Low" to a rousing martial rendition of the "British Grenadiers."

This marks Linda Herrmann's sixth year as music director of the St. Anthony Park Community Chorus. Herrmann, who holds an M.M. from Westminster Choir College, is director of music at Gethsemane Lutheran Church in Hopkins and has been active as a freelance musician in the Twin Cities.

The community chorus, a non-profit group, now draws membership from a wider geographic area than St. Anthony Park alone: members now represent Prospect Park, Highland Park and Falcon Heights, as well as other communities. The chorus has performed at many local functions including the St. Anthony Park festivals in June and the dedication of the renovated library in 1988. This year the chorus mounted a production of Amahl and the Night Visitors by Gian Carlo Menotti for its annual holiday presentation at the December Park Association meeting.

The public is encouraged to attend the May 19 concert. There is no fixed admission charge, but donations will be welcomed.

This is the 1991 4th of July parade in St. Anthony Park. Organizers of the 1992 parade hope everyone will make or find costumes.

4th of July contest planned

The St. Anthony Park Association is sponsoring a contest to promote children's costumes and decorated vehicles (bikes, trikes, strollers, scooters or wagons) in the 4th of July parade. There will also be a prize for the most creative adult entry.

"It should be enormous fun for the kids if it catches on," said Mary Ann Bernard, co-chairperson of the special events subcommittee of the association, who grew up in an Ohio neighborhood with a similar contest.

"The costume contest made the 4th of July a bigger event for my brother and me than Halloween was when we were very small. We would spend weeks planning out our costumes and figuring out how we would decorate our bikes. It required more creativity than Halloween because costumes weren't available in the stores and we liked to pretend we were historical figures. Dressing in costumes is too much fun to do only once a year."

Prizes will be awarded in four different age groups (preschool, K-3, 3-6 and 7th and up) and three different categories: best historical costume, best all-American costume, and best decorated children's vehicle. Historical costumes would include all eras of American history, from Betsy Ross and George Washington to cowboys and prospectors to suffragists and modern soldiers. All-American will include everything else.

"Some children will insist on coming as superheroes, doctors and nurses, or whatever. We don't want to discourage their creativity," said Bernard. "We are hoping, however, to see costumes that are at least remotely appropriate to the event."

Prizes will be age-appropriate toys or gift certificates. The award for the most creative adult entry has not been determined, but will either be a plaque or a gift certificate from a local merchant.

Bugle wins Neighborhood Press Association awards

The Park Bugle won eight awards for its 1991 work at the annual Neighborhood Press Association conference in April.

The paper won second place in its category (which included nine other papers) for "Best Continuing Design," third place for "Best Story Layout," for an October, 1991, Music in the Park article and third place in "Best Original Advertisement" for an October, 1991, ad promoting St. Anthony Park Foods.

Individual awards were given to Warren Hanson, who received first place for "Best Editorial or Opinion Piece" for his story called "A Band of Beggars," which appeared in the Dec., 1991, Bugle. The piece was about school children selling candy and other items door to door to raise funds for programs in the St. Paul school district. Hanson also won second place honors for an illustration that accompanied his "A Dumber Summer," article from June, 1991, and second place for his "Home Words" column in the category "Best Continuing Column."

Jeff Holmberg won second place for his cartoon showing dogs and cats playing bingo that appeared in August, 1991, accompanying an article about a proposed bingo hall in South St. Anthony.

Anne Whittemore won second prize for "Best Historical Feature" for her story on the demolition of Aasgaard Hall in the January, 1991, issue.

Theme for the 13th annual conference was "The First Amendment: The Challenges Ahead."

Keynote speaker was Gary Gilson, director of the Minnesota News Council.

Also at the conference, the association voted to change its name to the Neighborhood and Community Press Association (NCPA) in an effort to attract membership from publications that serve communities beyond geographical boundaries—such as the African American community, the Asian community and the gay and lesbian community.

Kathy Malchow, Bugle co-editor, was elected to the board of the NCPA, which now serves about 30 community newspapers throughout the Twin Cities.

Letters

Linking the past with the future

Dear editors,

My name is Carolyn Anderson Vickerman. I lived in St. Anthony Park first as a child in 1935 with my parents Dr. John and Elizabeth Andrews. We lived first on Scudder and then in 1937 moved to Raymond Ave. We attended St. Anthony Park Methodist Church. My brother, Dr. Robert Andrews, and I attended Guttersen which is now a parking lot across from the Methodist Church. We graduated from Murray Senior High, he in 1953 and I in 1951. After graduation I attended Hamline University and then got married and had three children.

Our Murray class of 1951 has had four reunions, the last two being the 33rd (because most of us were born in 1933) and the 40th, this past October. At that reunion I re-met Major Gordon Cole Bassett, retired, son of Gordon (C.W.) and Nancy Bassett who lived on Dudley Ave. We had not seen each other since our 1951 graduation. Our mothers both attended University High School and graduated in 1927. Gordon's father attended University High School along with Miss Gertrude Hermann, who later became Gordon's and my kindergarten teacher at Guttersen Grade School. My father and Gordon's father both worked for General Mills and were close friends.

Gordon and I, both now single, had our first date two days after the reunion. He then returned to Colorado Springs where he has lived for over 20 years. Shortly after that first date and following many letters, he called and asked if I would be home in mid-November when he would be in town. After a four-day visit he returned to Colorado. We wrote letters every day and called about twice a week. He then returned to Minneapolis on December 30 and that evening proposed marriage. I happily answered yes.

Two days later we arranged to see Miss Gertrude Hermann, our kindergarten teacher, along with another classmate and long-time friend, Dr. Robert Bjorndahl, a St. Anthony Park dentist. At that meeting we announced our engagement. A wedding date was set for June 12 at Old Muskego Church on the seminary campus. Gordon and I had gone on a field trip to the church as children. The bridal dinner will take place at Muffuletta, which was a grocery store and beauty shop when we were children in the Park.

Following the ceremony, Dr. Bjorndahl will take us in his horse-drawn carriage past both of our former homes, old Murray and the place where Guttersen once stood. Following a reception we will make our home in Colorado Springs.

Thought you might enjoy this very nostalgic news as it relates to the history of St. Anthony Park.

Mergenthal to resign as editor

Mary Mergenthal, eight-year editor of the Bugle, has announced her resignation from the paper effective October 1.

Mergenthal started at the Bugle in 1984 as assistant editor. A year later she became editor. Since November 1990 she has served as co-editor, sharing the editorial responsibilities with Kathy Malchow.

"Mary has shaped the content and look of the newspaper over the last eight years, receiving recognition for excellence throughout the Twin Cities," said Jeri Glick-Anderson, president of the board of directors of Park Press, Inc., parent company of the Bugle.

"Just last month the newspaper received eight awards at the Neighborhood Press Association annual meeting. Mary can be thanked for her commitment to providing a quality newspaper that fills a critical role in our communities. We will miss her."

Mergenthal plans to continue publishing Y Drych, a national Welsh newspaper, out of her home.

The search process for a new editor for the Park Bugle has already begun, said Bruce Dalgaard, chairman of Park Press' personnel committee.

The committee has met with a community advisory group and is now defining the responsibilities of the new editor position. The position will be advertised within a month and is expected to be filled by September, Dalgaard said.

Details about the position will appear in next month's Park Bugle.

The Park Bugle is published by Park Press, Inc., a nonprofit organization guided by an elected board of directors. Currently serving on the board are Cindy Anderson, Jim Christenson, Bruce Dalgaard, Jeri Glick-Anderson, Paul Kirkegaard, Stewart McIntosh, Nathan Morris, Mary Nelsestuen, Jeanne Schacht, Paul Stegmeir, Dale Tennison, Willard Thompson and Steve Wellington.

The Bugle is a community newspaper serving St. Anthony Park, Lauderdale, Falcon Heights and Northwest Como Park. The Bugle reports and analyzes community news and promotes the exchange of ideas and opinions in these communities. In carrying out its work, the Bugle strives to promote freedom of expression, enhance the quality of life in the readership communities and encourage community participation in these endeavors.

The Bugle is published the last Thursday of each month. It is mailed free to residents of St. Paul's District 12, part of St. Paul's District 10, Falcon Heights and Lauderdale and distributed through local businesses. Subscription rates are $8 per year, $4 for senior citizens.

Fourteen houses and one church selected for tour of homes in St. Anthony Park

By Ellen Watters

The Old Muskego Church at Luther Northwestern Seminary joins an impressive list of 14 St. Anthony Park homes that will be open to the public for the Tour of Homes on June 7.

The church has been included in the tour this year because of its historical significance and its unique architecture. Organizers of the tour want to showcase a variety of architectural styles. In addition to the church, the tour includes homes that are bungalow, Prairie, contemporary, ranch and Victorian styles.

The tour also includes a residence that was once the St. Anthony Park train depot. The home was moved to its present location on Everett Court in the early part of the century. The home of former governor of Minnesota Andrew R. McGill is on the tour again as is the former rectory of St. Cecilia's Catholic Church. Both of those homes were on the Centennial Tour in 1987.

New to the tour are several homes which have had extensive remodeling and additions. These include the home of St. Anthony Park Community Council organizer Bobbi Megard and her husband Bob, and the home of Wayne and Gail Weig. The Weig's home was originally an 1896 farmhouse that was converted into a stunning contemporary home. A home in University Grove designed by noted architect Elizabeth Close is on the tour as is the 1950s home of Henry and Dorothy Healy, now owned by David Hansen and Karen Lilley.

For those interested in gardening, the tour includes several homes with beautiful gardens. Among them is the home of Diane Emerson, former president of the Minnesota Horticultural Society, and her husband Brad Nelson. Down the block on Hillside is the home of Warren Scamp and Marie Tima. They created a massive terrace in their back yard which is now planted with hundreds of shrubs, hostas and other vegetation.

Several homes on the tour are "in-process," allowing visitors the opportunity to see before and after under one roof. Of special note in this category is Jeff and Paula Soholt's home on Langford Park. This large 1890 home had been subdivided many years ago. The Sohols are in the process of transforming it to its original Victorian splendor. The results so far are impressive, so don't miss this one.

Beth and Greg Richardson are also doing extensive renovation to their home on Hampden Park. Like the Sohols, the Richardsons were faced with a home which had been converted into a duplex. Now, however, they're returning it to its original purpose.

The charming home of Nancy and Steve Plagens on Ludlow is a fine example of a Victorian home for the middle class and the Myers home on Knapp is a marvelous model of a Gothic cottage. For those interested in the popular craftsman style, stop by the home of Carol Korda and Bruce Dalgard on Grantham. This home enjoys both a true craftsman style and a beautiful view.

Volunteers are still needed to help staff the 14 homes. No experience or special skills are needed to volunteer, just an interest in the neighborhood and a warm and friendly smile. To sign up for an hour or two of volunteering, call Jan Meyer at 647-9104.

A beautiful commemorative poster of the tour of homes is also available. The poster was designed by local artist Susan Broussard and is a striking woodcut of the Old Muskego Church printed on black paper with copper ink. Purchase the poster the day of the tour or watch local merchants' windows.

Tickets for the tour are available at St. Anthony Park area merchants and are $8 in advance and $10 on the day of the tour. Special rates are available for senior citizens and students.

By the way, if you're looking for the addresses of these interesting homes, buy a ticket to the tour and reserve the afternoon on June 7. A brochure describing each home (and providing addresses) will be provided the day of the tour.

Roseville School Board elections May 19

Three Roseville residents are candidates for two open seats on the Roseville School Board. The election is on Tues., May 19, 7 a.m.-8 p.m. for residents of Roseville, Falcon Heights and Lauderdale.

Incumbent Brad Borsheim is running, as are Jan Silliman and Steven True.

Borsheim, a former high school teacher in the Minneapolis School District, is employed by NCR Comten in Roseville. He has a child at Brimhall School and one at Roseville Area Middle School. (Borsheim did not provide the Bugle with a photo.)

Silliman, a full-time homemaker and volunteer, is involved in the Roseville Area Middle and High School PTA boards.

Steven True

True is accounting and administration manager for Shamrock Industries of Minneapolis.

One of his children will begin kindergarten at Falcon Heights Elementary School in the fall.

Jan Silliman

The public is invited to meet the candidates at a meeting sponsored by the Roseville League of Women Voters and District #623 PTA Coordinating Council. It will be held on Wed., May 6, 7:30 p.m., at Roseville Area High School, 1261 W. Hwy. 36.

There are three polling places for the election:

Fairview Community Center, 1910 W. County Rd. B;

Parkview Center School, 701 W. County Rd. B;

Roseville Middle School, 15 E. County Rd. B2.

Many exciting events are coming up. On April 30 there will be a band and vocal concert at 7 p.m. Our open house was April 28. On May 4 a woodwind quintet will perform. The next evening, May 5, will be the annual Ice Cream Social and Science Fair.

The members of Ms. McGrath's running club recently participated in Get-In-Gear Fun Run.

Ben Roosa and Margaret Smack

Murray Junior High

The Murray Garage Sale is on May 2. Donations can be brought to Murray up to May 1. If you have any small appliances, housewares, toys, books or linens that you would like to bring in, please do. Or if you are in need of any of those items, stop by. The sale is on May 2, from 8:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m. All donations are tax deductible.

Congratulations to all the Murray students who went to the State Science Fair, April 5-7, at Winona. Students attending with papers were Niki Felton, Becca Jessen and Marie Snell. David Smith Kaneen attended with a project. Special congrats to April Larson, who went with both a paper and a project. All students did very well.

On May 6, 9 a.m., a few Murray students will put on a play, "The Re-Opening." Murray received a Community Ed grant for $900, so Murray could put on this play since extracurricular funds were cut. Murray is working with SteppingStone Theater to put on this play. On May 7 the play will be performed at the Murray Senior Citizen luncheon.

The Spring Concert is May 21, 7 p.m., so if you would like to hear some good music, the Murray band would love to have you come!

Carin McIntosh

Como Park High

The month of May begins with an inservice half day, on May 1. On May 5 a reception for Dr. Joan Sorenson, Como's former principal, will be held from 4-6 p.m. in Como's library. May 5 is also Cinco de Mayo, a Mexican holiday. The week of May 4-8 is Mexican American Week. On May 5 there will be a recognition at the school board meeting for Audrey Greschner, Como's head cook, honoring her standards of excellence in food service—fast, fresh and friendly.

On May 7 the gifted and talented courses at Como will be evaluated by representatives of the University of St. Thomas. That evening there will also be the spring band concert at 7 p.m.

in the auditorium. On May 8 there will be an all-school AIDS play called "Secrets."

May 12 is the tentative date for student council elections. That day there will be a steering committee meeting at 2:15 p.m. in the library. On May 13 there will be a Southeast Asian Development club banquet from 5-7 p.m. at Como.

On May 14 the annual spring choral concert will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium. On May 15 the cheerleaders are hosting their annual spring fling dance at 7 p.m. in the gym.

April was Asian American Pacific month. Being unable to schedule a speaker in April, there will be a speaker on May 18.

On May 21, Kathy Dumas will give a National Honors Society reception for newly-accepted students. Also that evening senior honors night will be held at 7 p.m. in the auditorium. On May 26, the top ten students at Como Park will be recognized at the top ten seniors citywide honors night at Humboldt.

May 25 is Memorial Day so there will be no school. On May 28, the spring athletic banquet potluck will be held.

St. Anthony Park Elementary

Well spring has sprung, we think! Maybe the weather is not cooperating, but the activities at St. Anthony Park School have a spring flavor none-the-less. The running club started March 30. The following teachers are helping: Joyce Holoubek, Janet Delmore, Liz Honkanen, Jody Roe, and Colleen Flaherty. The kids participated in the Get In Gear race on April 25 and now they are working to get in shape for Track and Field Days. The all-school Track and Field Days will be held from 1-3 p.m. on Thurs. and Fri., May 28 and 29. Some of the 6th graders are looking forward to helping. Parents can come for pictures and encouragement!

School carnival plans are under way for Fri., May 8. There will be games, concessions, a cake walk, a bake sale and much more. Parents are still needed to help set up and take down. Also they need parents to work in concession and game booths. We will be having a bake sale, too, so if you can, bring things to sell. This is an important part of SAPSA's fundraising efforts but lots of fun for families, as well.

On Tues. May 19 we will hold our annual band/orchestra concert. This is an exciting event for the students who will be able to show their parents, grandparents and friends how well they have progressed in music during the year. This concert will be conducted by Bob Villevik, SAP Elementary music director.

The St. Paul Jaycees and St. Paul Police Department are celebrating the 71st anniversary of the St. Paul Safety Patrol Program on May 19. There will be an all-city parade and picnic plus funds will be raised to sponsor 30 students (city-wide) to go to Legionville Safety Patrol Camp. If you would like to help sponsor a student to camp or learn more about the parade and picnic, contact: St. Paul Police Dept., Attn: School Police Div., 100 E. 11th St., St. Paul 55101.

There will be one inservice day in which school will not be in session. That's on Fri., May 1 and one holiday, Memorial Day, Mon., May 25.

Claire Sweet

Central High School

As any student in St. Paul could tell you, there are only 24 school days left until summer break. But don't think that means things are winding down. On the contrary May is one of the busiest months of the school year.

The excitement begins with the junior/senior prom on May 2. Then on May 5 new honor society members will be inducted in a 6 p.m. ceremony in the Central auditorium. On May 7 our band will hold its final performance.

Undergraduate awards night for 9th, 10th and 11th grade academic achievers will be held on May 12. For the class of 1992, senior honors night will be May 21. The spring athletes will be recognized at a dinner on May 27.

But there is a lot more going on than programs in the auditorium. All juniors and seniors taking I.B. (International Baccalaureate) or A.P. (Advanced Placement) tests will be studying like crazy the first few weeks of May to prepare for their exams. If you know any of these poor souls, please wish them your best! Even for those students not taking these tests, everyone has finals right around the corner.

Can you imagine a hectic month like this combined with team practice everyday? The following area residents could tell you what that's like. Dan Kohler, Cynthia McLean, Anne Nakanishi, Matt Witham and Micah Witham are on the golf team. Matt Crosby, Cedric Fan, Todd Nakanishi, Jon Rogness and Ben Westhoff are playing tennis. Ray Albrecht, Rachel Allyn, Jessica Beeler, Kerstin Beyer, Erica Breneman, Mike Dennis, Jeff Flory, Matt Flory, Jeff Iverson, Joe Jensen, Ed Kohler, Dan LeBarre, Ingrid Larson, Jesse Lipelt, Nunia Mafi, Mara Magnuson, Martha Namie, Kent Nelsestuen, Eric Peterson, Cory Tennison and Andy Wiley sweat every day on the track.

Congratulations to those students who will receive academic awards and good luck trying to find some peaceful moments this month!

The reading festival was fun for our six participants: Mark Dymond and Mimi Song, 6th grade; Marni Hogen and Brandon Pierce, 7th grade; Joe Davini and Jim Walker, 8th grade. The topics chosen were interpretive reading, storytelling and persuasive reading.

This year, again, our M and M sale was great! We topped our goal of $5,000. Thanks to all sponsors, contributors and participants.

During 3rd quarter the following students merited honors. First honors 7th grade: Katie Brennan, Marni Hogen, Yvonne Kimlinger, Becky Kronna, Brandon Pierce, Chris Soler and Nicky Wynn. Second honors 7th grade: George Burns, Jeremy Coffman, Emily Martin and Jessica Stroeing. Grade 8 honors: Debra Liden, Molly Detviler, Jeff Stelmach and James Walker.

The 3rd graders participated in a St. Paul Arbor Day poster contest. Erika Mortensen received honorable mention. All 3rd graders were also given a tree to plant and nurture.

The St. Anthony Park-based Center for Arts Criticism will present California performance artist and gay activist, Tim Miller, at a brown-bag luncheon discussion on Tues., May 5, noon-1:30 p.m., at South St. Anthony Recreation Center, 890 Cromwell Ave.

"Art Activism Now" is offered by the Center for Arts Criticism as an Arts Over AIDS event. It is free and the public is invited to attend. Call 644-5501 for more information.

Tim Miller is well-known as one of the four artists who have brought suit against the National Endowment for the Arts over grants that were recommended then denied to them last year, apparently because of the political or sexual content of their work.

Music

The Lyra Concert presents "May Day Bachanalia," music of Johann Sebastian Bach, on Sat., May 2, 8 p.m., at Luther Northwestern Seminary, Hendon at Fulham. On the program are two sinfonias, selections from "The Musical Offering" and "Orchestral Suite No. 3 in D Major."

Tickets: $13, with discounts available to students, seniors and Public Radio members. Call 322-2154.

Music in the Park presents the Apple Hill Chamber Players, Sun., May 3, 7 p.m., at St. Anthony Park United Church of Christ, 2129 Commonwealth. Program includes: Schubert's "Trout Quintet," Jon Deak's "Eeyore Has a Birthday" (Minnesota premiere), and Fauré's "Piano Quartet in C Minor."

Tickets: $9 in advance at The Bibelot Shop or Micawber's Bookstore; $10 at the door; $5 student rush. Call 644-4234.

"Popular Music in Japan—Shonen Knife and Beyond," will be presented in the Minnesota Commons Room, St. Paul Campus Student Center, at 7:30 p.m. on Tues., May 12. Free.

St. Anthony Park Community Chorus will appear in concert on Tues., May 19, 7:30 p.m. at St. Anthony Park United Methodist Church, Como at Hillside. See article on p. 3.

Visual Art

"Artists of the Circle," a Native American art collection, opens Sun., May 3, at the Paul Whitney Larson Gallery on the lower level of the St. Paul Campus Student Center, University of Minnesota. Opening reception is May 3 from 1:30-4 p.m.

On Wed., May 13 at noon, the Three Rivers Dance Clan will present dancing, drumming and narration.

The same day, a "Native Visions Art Video Series" will be shown at 11 a.m., noon, 1 p.m. and on request during gallery hours: Mon.-Fri., 10 a.m.-4 p.m.;

Annual Awards Meeting

May is a big month for the St. Anthony Park Association. At the dinner in May outstanding members of the community, including two students from Murray Junior High School, will receive awards recognizing their achievements.

Then the Association will hold its annual meeting and elect a new board for the coming year. After the meeting, Northern Lights 4-Hers will put on a skit about multiculturalism and Creative Theatre Unlimited, along with its director Charles Numrich, will present folk tales, traditional music and oral histories of the Hmong people and their experience coming to Minnesota. Hope to see you there.

Busway from 1

This technology could be used on the route to monitor the speed of the buses, make certain no unauthorized vehicles make their way onto the busway and watch for the safety and security of pedestrians or bicyclists in the area, Turner said.

"There may be a joint benefit in terms of applying technology to transit," he said. "This may be a unique place in the country in terms of applying this technology to transit vehicles as opposed to personal vehicles."

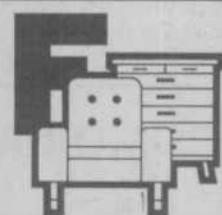

The patent for Auto-Scope, which is now being used on Highway 394 in Minneapolis, is held by the University, director of the Center for Transportation Studies Dick Braun said. Its primary function is to count vehicles and monitor their speed.

University officials are also talking about the possibility of testing other new technologies on the portion of the busway furthest from the residential area during hours the busway is not in use.

One technology under consideration is an automated vehicle device. This would allow buses to "platoon," or travel one after the other closely through an electronic system that locks the speed of the second vehicle to match the speed of the first.

"Ultimately you should be able to lock onto a vehicle in platooning and read the newspaper on the way to Duluth," Braun said. Public use of this technology is 20-25 years away, he said, but the busway offers a unique place to test the equipment because there is no traffic in off-hours.

"This is all so nebulous because it is just in the talking stage," he said, "but it would be an opportunity to do some high-tech development."

Friends and Neighbors meet

The final Friends & Neighbors meeting of the season will be held at Lauderdale City Hall, 1891 Walnut, on Tues., May 5, from noon-4 p.m. Bring a hot dish or salad and tableware for a potluck to conclude the group's 15th year. All who like to play cards and talk to neighbors are welcome.

FALCON HEIGHTS

Gibbs Farm Museum

Ever wondered how your wool sweater got from the sheep to you? Go to the Ramsey County Historical Society's Gibbs Farm Museum on Sun., May 3, from noon-4 p.m., for "From Sheep to Shawl" and learn how wool has been processed for centuries.

Jack Maloney will demonstrate shearing sheep by hand. Keith Pieper will use electric shears. Shearing demonstrations will be at 1:30 and 3 p.m.

Spinners will demonstrate carding wool and spinning it into yarn. Cindy Graff will demonstrate wool-dyeing.

On Sun., May 10, noon-4 p.m., storytelling and a doll exhibit will be featured. The storytelling event is coordinated by Larry Johnson. The Twin Cities Black Doll Collectors Club will give a presentation at 2:30 p.m.

To celebrate Mother's Day, mothers accompanied by their children of any age are admitted free on May 10.

Volunteers are also needed at Gibbs Farm Museum this summer to help conduct tours, demonstrate crafts, help with gardening, general maintenance, animal care, clerical work, etc.

Hwy. 280 ramp to open sooner than expected

The Minnesota Department of Transportation (MnDOT) has agreed to accelerate work on one segment of the Hwy. 280 project to allow for the University/Territorial Rd. exit from southbound Hwy. 280 to be open by July 1. This is six weeks ahead of the previously announced Aug. 15 completion. Workers will be on the job longer hours (6 a.m.-8 p.m.) in order to finish sooner.

Businesses in the Westgate and South St. Anthony areas that depend on the University/Territorial interchange had pressured MnDOT for some type of accommodation. This accelerated construction schedule is seen as a partial solution—and probably the only one forthcoming.

Ahlgren is a champion skater

Leif Ahlgren placed 3rd at the North American Speed Skating championships in Vancouver, British Columbia, in March. He started against stiff competition, including the Vancouver team, considered best in the world. He expects to try out for the next Winter Olympic Games.

Ahlgren started his speed skating career in 3rd grade and is now an 11th grader at Minnehaha Academy.

This season has been a rough one. He missed the first half of the year due to mononucleosis and then, after winning the national junior title with record-breaking times, was injured in a fall.

SteppingStone Theatre gets grants

SteppingStone Theatre for Youth Development, which presents plays and workshops at Murray Junior High, has been awarded several grants by local organizations. St. Paul Companies provided $15,000 toward the recent production, "Make A Joyful Noise." That show reached approximately 6,700 people with a history of African American music. The City of St. Paul and Josten's have contributed toward SteppingStone's operating budget. Other contributors include IDS, Grand Metropolitan Food Sector, Target, the Minnesota State Arts Board and the Hugh J. Andersen Foundation.

Local youth in SteppingStone play

Delaney Feigal-Stickles, Jake Hansen and Josh McHan are appearing in "The Wonderful World of Oz" by David Simmons currently being produced by SteppingStone Theatre for Youth Development. The musical based on L. Frank Baum's sequel to The Wizard of Oz continues through May 15 at Landmark Center in downtown St. Paul. Show times vary but are generally Tues., Wed., Thurs. and Fri. at 10 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. and Sat. and Sun. at 2 p.m. Call 225-9265 for information.

To Your Credit

Financial news and advice from your neighborhood Norwest banker

Tapping your home's equity

After years of looking elsewhere for convenient credit sources, Americans are coming home. They're ending costly relationships with high interest credit cards and installment loans and replacing them with a new financial commitment—a home equity loan.

Equity to cash

Basically, a home equity loan is a second mortgage against your house. The maximum you can borrow, or your "available equity," is usually calculated at 70 to 80 percent of your home's market value, less the balance of your first mortgage.

"Home equity is the fastest-growing type of loan," says Anne Elsome, loan product manager, Norwest Banks. In many cases, people are using their home's equity to replace existing debt, which is probably at a higher interest rate and not likely to be tax deductible.

Interest on consumer loans is no longer tax deductible. A home equity loan, however, is technically a mortgage, and its interest is tax deductible in most cases.

Elsome advises to proceed with caution. "If you use it to pay off your other debts, then go back out and run up your credit cards, you'll be no further ahead," she notes.

Multiple uses

Other than replacing existing debt, the most common uses for home equity loans include home improvement, cars, secondary property investments and school tuition. Still, they're not for everybody.

"If you plan to move during the next three to five years, it could prevent you from having the money for a down payment on a new home," Elsome notes.

Ruth Grussing, Consumer Banking Manager, University-Midway Office, one of your neighborhood Norwest home equity specialists

Do's and Don'ts

- Do ask about the differences between a home equity loan and an equity line of credit.
- Do consult your tax advisor to see if interest would be tax deductible.
- Do ask about any pre-payment penalties.
- Don't use a home equity loan to pay off small purchases.
- Don't be tempted to extend your payments too far—ultimately you'll pay for it in interest.

The firefighters say they will also contribute to area youth groups.

Red Cross blood drive

The Red Cross bloodmobile will be at St. Anthony Park Lutheran Church, 2323 Como Ave., on Mon., May 11, 2-7 p.m. Call the church office, 645-0371, to reserve a time to give blood.

New eligibility rules for those who give blood went into effect March 16. Now all prospective donors must know the exact name of any prescription medication they may have taken within 30 days. The upper age limit for giving blood, previously 75 years, has been removed, allowing anyone 17 years or older to give. Persons who have had a heart attack or cardiovascular conditions in the past, but are now symptom free, have no restrictions on physical activities and do not take any heart medication, can now give blood. Also, the weight minimum has been relaxed, from 110 pounds down to 105.

As part of the process,

Red Cross nurses will continue to ask potential blood donors questions about behaviors that may indicate a risk of exposure to AIDS, hepatitis or other diseases.

Update on barrel dump

Archer Daniels Midland (ADM) has agreed to work with the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency on investigating the barrel dump on ADM's former property in the Westgate/Hwy. 280 area.

ADM's consultants question several of the conclusions reached in a previous study of the dump site, however. So before ADM commits to a barrel removal, the company wants to perform additional investigation. The MPCA staff will oversee this investigation.

ADM had committed to erecting a fence around the area by April 15. Next, ADM's consultants are preparing a detailed work plan, which will include an investigation to find out more about the nature and extent of the barrel dump area. This work plan is due May 15. During the investigation, the consultants will dig trenches through areas on the property, removing and sampling any barrels they uncover. MPCA staff will be on site during this phase, and all those working on the site will wear protective clothing.

The MPCA will send a letter to the community before this work begins.

The MPCA has proposed placing the ADM/Westgate site on the state Superfund list. That means it is a priority for cleanup and is eligible for use of state Superfund money if ADM does not adequately address the site's problems. According to the Environmental Protection Agency's Hazard Ranking System, the ADM/Westgate site scores 17 on a scale of 1 to 100, with 100 being a site posing the most risk to public health and the environment.

Block Nurse Program gets grant

The St. Anthony Park Block Nurse Program has been awarded a Minnesota Department of Human Services (DHS) grant to expand its operations. The program will receive $22,000 over the next 18 months to add services for a broader group of neighborhood seniors.

The Block Nurse Program has provided nurse-managed home care for seniors in the Park for ten years. With the DHS grant, it will add social and supportive services, modeled on the St. Paul Living At Home Programs, for seniors who don't need formal nursing care.

Funding for the grant is provided under the Seniors Agenda for Independent Living (SAIL) program. SAIL was adopted by the legislature last June to address the long-term needs of Minnesota's elderly.

For more information about the Block Nurse Program, call 642-9052.

Park Festival June 6

The annual St. Anthony Park Spring Festival and Art Fair will be held on Sat., June 6, 9 a.m.-5 p.m., at the Como and Carter Avenues. There are several new attractions planned for the year's festival. A staging area will be set up near the gas station for animal demonstrations. Como Zoo, the Raptor Center and several University of Minnesota large animal groups have been invited to participate.

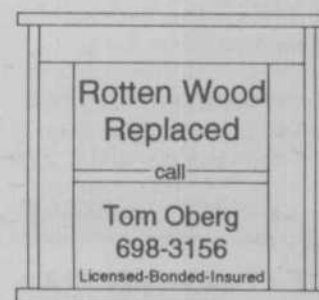

A security fair is being organized in conjunction with the St. Anthony Park Community Council which includes vendors displaying the latest in home and security devices.

Traditional favorite local talent will be highlighted at the showmobile stage near Milton Square.

Anyone interested in performing or setting up a booth for the festival should call Bridget Faricy at 645-2366 by May 20 to reserve a spot. All participants will be required to pre-register for booth assignments, so plan ahead.

What can I do, Mom?

By Vickie Gilmer

Long, warm, sunny summer days look awfully inviting right now. But come summer those days can get pretty long. Parents planning ahead for local kids' activities this summer are sure to find plenty of possibilities here.

Artistic adventures

Summer art classes will be taught by Lena Rothman. These classes offer students a chance to develop their skills in representational drawing and painting. Sessions are held in the afternoons on Mon., Wed. and Fri. June 15-26, July 6-17, July 20-31, and Aug. 3-14. Cost is $96. Class size is limited to five students per class. Call 645-3062.

The Northern Clay Center offers clay camps for kids ages 5-9 the mornings of June 22-26 or Aug. 3-7. These classes will be held at Langford Park Rec Center. Cost is $50.

The Big Wheel gives kids a break from the midday heat when they plunge their hands into cold, wet clay. This two-week course is for 10- to 14-year-olds. The cost of $100 includes clay and firing. Classes are held at the Clay Center, 2375 University Ave., July 6-10 and July 13-17 in the afternoon. Call 642-1735.

The Clay Center also offers family workshops on several Sunday afternoons.

Two art classes sponsored by the St. Anthony Park Arts Forum will be offered at South St. Anthony Rec Center. The fee charged is only a fraction of the actual cost of conducting the class, thanks to the support of the Arts Forum. Call 298-5770 about either class.

Art Class I for grades K-2 will meet Tues., 2-4 p.m. Cost is $15 for 6 sessions, beginning June 9 except for June 23. Demaris Jackson will teach.

Art Class II, for grades 7-9, starts June 9 for 12 sessions on Tues. & Thurs., 4:30-6:30 p.m. Cost is $20 for this class designed to teach basic drawing and painting skills using pencil, pastels and water colors. Teacher is Lena Rothman.

Crafts for Kids provides youngsters with an opportunity to utilize many art mediums. This course is offered Friday mornings June 26-July 31 at Curtiss Field and Falcon Heights Community Park. Cost is $16. Call 644-5050.

Leather crafts will be taught at Langford Park on June 12 in the afternoon. Cost is $3.

Arts and crafts classes for 5-7 year olds are held from 3-4 p.m. for six weeks beginning Thurs., June 11, or 4-5 p.m. on the same dates for 8-12 year olds. Call Northwest Como Rec Center at 298-5813.

Community Education offers art classes at St. Anthony Park Elementary School. These Tues. classes which begin June 16 are for students in grades 3-6. Call 293-8738.

Theatrical themes

Theatre arts (storytelling, creative dramatics and puppetry) will be taught by Charles Numrich, along with classes by Linda Rossi in drawing, painting, sculpture and video as part of Creative Theatre Unlimited's Summer Reach Out program. Classes run Mon.-Fri. mornings June 15-July 3 or July 20-Aug. 7 at St. Anthony Park United Church of Christ, 2129 Commonwealth. Cost is $160 for either 3-week session. The program is designed for students ages 4-9. Call 645-8972.

SteppingStone Theatre is offering a variety of workshops at Murray Junior High for kids of all ages interested in theatre. The Creative Workshop is for children 3-8 years old and gives them a chance to learn creative dance, dramatics and includes music. Cost is $65.

Connecting Characters is for children 9-12 years old who are interested in taking acting classes, singing, dancing, auditioning, stage combat and puppeteering. Children will create a play and perform it (daily classes in either June or July sessions). Cost is $225.

Youth ages 13-18 interested in theatre are encouraged to join the Performing Arts Workshop where they will receive daily classes in technical theatre and playwriting and rehearse musicals to perform. Cost is $300 for daily sessions July 27-Aug. 21. Call Nancy Paul, 225-9265, about any SteppingStone offerings.

SteppingStone Theatre will also teach acting to 3rd-5th graders at St. Anthony Park Elementary School on Wednesday afternoons beginning June 17. Cost is $20. Call 293-8738.

Making music

At Musical Trolley children ages 4-kdg. get hands-on experience with various instruments plus songs, creative dramatics, visual art, literature and creative movement. Classes are offered at the Children's Museum at Bandana Square mornings or over the noon hour June 15-19 or June 22-26. Cost is $113. Call 627-4020.

SteppingStone Theatre and Community Education offer Creative Music at St. Anthony Park Elementary School for six Wednesdays beginning June 17 for children ages 3-5. Cost is $20. Call 293-8738.

Stories and poems

Expose your kindergarten-3rd grade child to World Stories through folk tales, fairy tales and fables that come to life in skits, crafts and musical activities. Bring them to the Children's Museum at Bandana Square June 15-19, mornings. Cost is $45 for members, $65 for non-members. Call 644-5305.

The Bookstart program will again be held this year at South St. Anthony Rec Center, thanks to the efforts of Community Education, Recreation, District Council and the Library Association. Classes will be held Tues., Wed., Thurs., 9-10:30 a.m., starting June 9 and continuing for 15 sessions. Children will discover the enjoyment of books and reading. Lisa Steinmann will teach this class for children ages 4-6. This year classes will also be held on Wednesdays, 11 a.m.-noon, at Hampden Square Community Room.

The Bookmobile will be at the Northwest Como Rec Center every other Wednesday beginning June 10 from 1-5 p.m.

A storytelling class will meet Mondays, 4:30-5:30 p.m., at Northwest Como Rec Center. Cost is $6 per session. Call 298-5813.

The St. Anthony Park Branch Library will sponsor a summer reading program for kids up to age 12. Children get a card to record how many books they read and receive a prize for every 10 completed. Pre-readers can enroll, too, if an adult reads to them. Call 292-6635.

Celebrate St. Anthony Park Library's 75th birthday on July 30. Join in the fun and dress up in pioneer costumes, play games and enjoy cookies and lemonade. Call 292-6635.

It's magic!

Children love magic and they can learn how to build their own props for their own illusions in The Magic of Magic. Twin Cities performer "The Magic of Suzanne" will teach kids in grades 4-6 their own sleight of hand on July 13-17 in the afternoon at the Children's Museum. $45 for members, $65 for non-members. Call 644-5305.

Brain busters

Kids in grades 4-6 can find new strategies for measuring, geometry, weight and volume at Brain Busters July 13-17 in the afternoon at the Children's Museum, 644-5305. Cost is $45 for museum members, $65 for non-members.

Also at the Children's Museum, 2nd and 3rd graders will enjoy Best Beginning Brain Busters which is designed to explore math in a fun and friendly setting. The date is Thurs., July 16, 9 a.m.-3 p.m.; cost is $13 for members, $19 for non-members.

Creative Computers will be offered by Community Education at St. Anthony Park Elementary School mornings in June for students in grades 2-3 ($20) and 4-6 ($25). Call 293-8738.

Computers: Logo will be offered for grades 2-4 and 5-6 beginning June 29 in the mornings. Cost is $22 or $25 depending on age. Call 293-8738.

REALTOR

What Are Buyers Looking For?

Today's buyers are busy people with a variety of interests. Surveys say they would rather pay a little more for a home that is well organized, clean and updated (especially the kitchen and bath), and is in good condition throughout. Fresh paint and newer carpeting are a real plus when buyers are making a decision. They also want convenience and easy maintenance in the interior and exterior of the home.

Buyers have a variety of interests so they need storage space for all their belongings. The master bedroom should have two closets, ample storage in the kitchen and bath plus room in the garage or basement for the weekend toys such as: snowmobiles, boats, bikes, trailers, skis (water and snow), hockey equipment, golf clubs, and exercise equipment. We in Minnesota do not travel lightly through our four seasons!

A yard for privacy, gardening or pets is still a prime motivating factor for home ownership. People want space and escape from confining, stressful jobs. A home is more than a shelter. It can, and should be, a refuge, peaceful and rejuvenating. If we can be of help in finding that refuge please call.

If we can be of any assistance in your future housing needs please call: Edina Realty, 636-2299, Carol Weber.

Obituaries

Lucy Abbe

Lucy Boothroyd Abbe died on March 19, 1992, at the age of 85, following a lengthy series of illnesses. She was a retired teacher of biology at Macalester College and a researcher in plant biology.

Mrs. Abbe was born in Ithaca, New York. She entered Cornell University in 1924, where she received a master's degree in botany. She collaborated in plant research, notably in the structure of trees and gene expression in corn.

In 1930 she married Ernst Abbe and the couple went to Harvard, where he obtained his Ph.D. in botany and she did extensive research. The Abbes came to the Twin Cities in 1935 when Ernst Abbe received a teaching appointment at the University of Minnesota. In the years that followed, Lucy and Ernst went on many expeditions to study rare plants. During World War II,

Mrs. Abbe's research shifted to a study of a Russian dandelion, a possible source of rubber—a project on which she spent several years. She was offered a teaching position in biology at Macalester College in 1944 and taught there until 1966. During this time she also did extensive field work with her husband in Southeast Asia. They collected over 800 flowering and wood specimens of oaks and other species. These were catalogued over a period of years, largely by Mrs. Abbe.

Lucy Abbe was noted for her intellectual curiosity and her persistence in the completion of her many research projects, but also for her adventurous spirit that welcomed opportunities to botanize in out-of-the-way corners of the world. Being somewhat of a feminist too, it gave her great pleasure to demonstrate that women are as competent as men, even under physically demanding circumstances. Her son, David, said she was not an outspoken feminist but instead preferred to be recognized "for her achievements instead of her declarations."

Among her honors were her election to the Cornell Chapter of Sigma Xi, as well as to Sigma Delta Epsilon, the women's scientific society. Her excellence in teaching at Macalester was recognized by the Minnesota Academy of Science, which awarded her a plaque "in appreciation for distinguished service in science education."

In addition to her husband Ernst of St. Anthony Park and her son David of San Diego, Calif., Mrs. Abbe is survived by another son, Robert, of Newton, Mass.

Donna Behrends

Donna J. Behrends died on March 16, 1992, at the age of 52. She was a resident of the Como Park neighborhood and a member of Holy Childhood Catholic Church.

Mrs. Behrends is survived by her husband, Robert, a longtime employee of the Unocal Station on Como Ave. Other survivors include her children, Robert (Charlie) of New Richland, Minn., Cindy of St. Paul, Bill of St. Paul, Mary Bade of Mounds View, Laura Schommer of St. Paul, and David of St. Paul; her mother, Edith Lamski of Roseville; her sisters, Sister Mary Lamski C.S.J. of Hector and Suzanne Coogan of Warsaw, New York; her brother John Lamski of Starbuck; and six grandchildren.

Beatrice Carlson

Beatrice W. Carlson, age 82, died on March 16, 1992. She had lived in Lauderdale on Malvern St. She was a member of Peace Lutheran Church.

When you're gone, everything will go to the loving children who survive you.
Or will they?

Unfortunately, we cannot assume that our children will outlive us. We need to consider all possibilities during estate planning. So it helps to have the guidance of someone who has made estate planning a specialty.

St. Anthony Park Lutheran Church quilters

Lutheran quilters provide warmth and beauty worldwide

By Mary Mergenthal

At St. Anthony Park Lutheran Church you can count on seeing 12-15 women hard at work making quilts. They're quick to clarify that they're not making fine handmade quilts but rather sturdy, practical ones. Sturdy and practical ones are not visually unappealing, however.

Working with donated fabric, the group makes quilt tops that are as attractive as possible. Those tops are then applied to purchased batts to make quilts for warmth and privacy for people in all parts of the world.

Between January 1 and April 1 the group completed 51 full-size quilts and six crib quilts. They accept contributions of good condition used quilts and particularly welcome lengths of new fabric.

Before Christmas the group donated quilts to the Salvation Army, Union Gospel Mission and Marie Sandvik Center. Crib quilts are regularly donated to Southeast Asian Ministry, to be given to new refugee arrivals. At the end of the quilting year (the group sews from September-May) quilts are sent to Lutheran World Relief (LWR) for distribution worldwide. Sixty were delivered to the LWR warehouse early in April.

Why do these women spend their Thursday mornings tearing, measuring and sewing? "We relish the opportunity to provide something which is of real service to people around the world. Each person has her own job so we work as a team to complete about three quilts each week. And, of course, the companionship we enjoy is no small part of our reason for being here either," said leader Sigrid Rothman. "We've seen (on LWR videos) quilts like ours used as room dividers in Third World countries as well as for warmth."

Speaking Briefly

Part-time City Council

St. Paul City Council members Alice Rettman and Paula Maccabee will be part of a panel discussing the impact of a part-time city council at Harding High School, 1540 E. 6th St., on Sat., May 9, 9:30 a.m. The event is free and open to all. For information, call Patti Cullen Garvey at 778-0268.

Host a student

The Minnesota English Center needs host homes for international guests this summer, Aug. 14-Sept. 4. They will be attending an intensive summer English and orientation program weekdays at the U of M. Students are from many places, especially from eastern Europe and Asia.

Hosts can be families or individuals sensitive to cultural diversity and who can provide a bedroom, study space and most meals. Call Carol at 625-4421 (days) or Linda at 724-6284 (evenings).

Obituaries

Frank Skog

Frank I. Skog, age 72, died on April 15, 1992. He was a former resident of Maple Knoll Drive in Falcon Heights and a member of the United Church of Christ there.

Mr. Skog was preceded in death by his wife, Sybil. He is survived by his children Franklin, Greg, Norm and Sal Skog and Su Sowder; four grandchildren; brothers, Bernard and Herman; and a sister, Eleanor Templin.

Dan Williams

Dan A. Williams, a longtime former resident of St. Anthony Park on Buford Ave., died on April 11, 1992, two days before his 93rd birthday. A professional football player in the early days, he at one time owned a share of the Minnesota Vikings. At 6'5" he was an unusually large man in the 1920s when he played center for the Duluth Eskimos from 1923-28. Pay was less than $100 per game. His friend, Ole Haugsrud, founder of the Eskimos, was one who helped to bring the Minnesota Vikings to the state in 1961. He signed Dan Williams' name, along with his own, on the application.

Mr. Williams was born April 13, 1899, in St. Cloud. He graduated from the State Teachers' College there. He taught industrial arts for six years in Duluth and Grand Rapids. In 1931 he started the Minnesota Farm Bureau Service Company, a St. Paul fertilizer manufacturing firm. He was an avid booster of agriculture and St. Paul's role in that field. He was president of the St. Paul Chamber of Commerce in 1956 and 1957. He was a member of the St. Anthony Park United Church of Christ.

Mildred Anderson Williams died in December, 1990, after 65 years of marriage. A granddaughter, Kristi Williams, also preceded him in death.

Survivors include son Robert of Seattle, daughter Louise Michaelson of St. Paul, six grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

ST. ANTHONY PARK COMMUNITY COUNCIL

NEWS

Council Actions at a Glance:

Town meeting to explore St. Anthony Park Elementary School parking lot request

At its April meeting the council:

- decided to hold a town meeting on June 10 at the library to present a proposed plan for a parking lot at the elementary school.
- approved the site plan for the Lutheran Social Services administration building on the Luther Northwestern Seminary campus. Construction to begin in late June or early July.
- voted to approve the alley vacation request by H. B. Fuller to allow for parking lot construction at its facility on Energy Park Drive.
- reviewed and approved the landscaping site plan for Total Petroleum at 2199 University Ave.
- approved the site plan for a 3,000 sq. ft. warehouse addition by Worum Chemical Co., 2130 Energy Park Dr., with additional landscaping.
- denied a variance request to convert a duplex to a triplex at 2372 Como Ave.
- took no action on the request for a non-conforming use permit at 2338 Carter Ave. to allow conversion of triplex to a fourplex. Owner must get the consent of 2/3 of the property owners within 100 feet
- voted to adopt the proposed plan to reconfigure the Hendon/Como intersection for the good of the community; to remove some street parking on Como Ave. for improved sight distance at Brompton; to change the 2-hour parking limit on Brompton to 24-hour parking.

Office: 890 Cromwell, St. Paul, MN 55114

Community Organizer: Bobbi Megard

1992-93 Community Council elected

Nine new council members will begin their terms on May 13 when they join five continuing members and four incumbents as neighborhood decision makers. There is still one vacancy on the South St. Anthony delegation and two on the Midway Civic and Commerce delegation.

Elections to select residential representation held on April 14 resulted in naming Alice Magnuson, Barbara Murdock and Nona Narvaez to 2-year terms as North St. Anthony delegates. Richard Nelson and Dirk Duncker were elected as alternates for a 1-year term. Richard Almer and Ellen Watters will serve as delegates from South St. Anthony and Scott Magnuson will be an alternate. One alternate position is vacant and will be appointed by the delegation if a volunteer steps forward.

Midway business and commercial delegates and alternates are named by the Midway Civic and Commerce Association and the St. Anthony Park Merchants and Professionals Association. The 1992-93 delegation from the business community will include Jeff Closmore, Six Transfer; Dave McElroy, First Bank Midway; Howard Ostrem, Luther Northwestern Seminary; B. Warner Shippee, Courtyard Antiques, and Gary Woodford, Olson Graphics. Two alternate positions remain to be filled.

Two delegates from North St. Anthony and three delegates from South St. Anthony will serve the second year of their terms: Phillip Duff and Jan Meyer from North; Melissa Coffey, John Grantham and Beth Richardson from South.

In May each delegation selects a chairperson and organizes four subcommittees. Each person, delegate or alternate, is asked to serve on one of the standing committees—environment, housing, human services or physical planning. Community residents or business people interested in serving as ad hoc members on any of the standing committees or wishing to inquire about serving should contact any council member or call the office at 292-7884.

Bookstart registration set

Lisa Steinmann, Bookstart teacher, has announced that the session will begin earlier in June this year and will be held in two locations. Co-sponsored by the St. Anthony Park Community Council and Community Education, Bookstart is a free program that teaches 4- to 6-year-olds the fun and joy of reading. Several stories will be read each day along with activities to promote creativity and imagination. Classes at the South St. Anthony Park Rec Center will be held from June 9-July 9 on T, W, Th from 9-10:30 a.m. Class during the same dates will be Wednesdays 11 a.m.-noon in the Hampden Square Community Room.

Register by calling the Community Council office (292-7884) or the Rec Center from May 18 to June 5 (298-5770).

Council-sponsored meetings are listed each month in the Bugle Community Calendar on page 17. Everyone is welcome!
