U of M neighbors winning fight to restrict on-street parking

by John Marino

On the same night that the University of Minnesota was unveiling new parking plans for its St. Paul Campus, the St. Anthony Park Community Council was voting to support neighborhood residents seeking to expand non-resident parking restrictions.

"It's not all well," said Council co-chair Alice Magnuson. "The university needs to be made aware of how the neighborhood feels about the parking situation." The unanimous vote, with one abstention, was taken at the council's March 8 Neighborhood Meeting at Murray Junior High School.

Neighbors who live on selected streets that immediately border the St. Paul campus to the west collected enough petition signatures to qualify with the city to request the change in signups. The signs currently allow one hour parking for anyone from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. All other times are by permit only.

The petition requests that parking be restricted exclusively to residents with a permit. This would run from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., Monday through Friday. The council then voted to send a letter with the petition to the St. Paul Public Works department, which will write a resolution that will be forwarded to the City Council for a vote.

The neighborhood blocks in question are:

- Dudley Avenue from Cleveland Avenue to Chicago Street
- Raymond Avenue from Dudley Avenue to Hendon Avenue
- Hyde Street from Dudley to Buford Avenue
- North side of Hendon from Raymond to Hyde Street
- Both sides of Hendon from Hyde to Cleveland

Although enough signatures were collected, some residents didn't sign the petition because it extended the restricted time beyond 6 p.m. and into the weekend. Earlier in the evening, the University's St. Paul Land Use Task Force recommended no changes to the neighborhood. The association can raise its own funds for special events and business promotions. Programs such as the successful building facade improvement program, which has been sponsored by the Mayo Clinic, is in need of additional funding.

Struggling SAP biz association joins strong Midway chamber

Chief Ellen Watters is a Park resident and advocate

by Jane McClure

Changes in administration and support services will help the St. Anthony Park Business Association continue for years to come. The association has been working for several weeks to make a transition from independent group to a part of the Midway Chamber of Commerce. The business association will now be a standing committee of the chamber. St. Anthony Park Business Association members will also be chamber members. Proposers say the change will allow the chamber to maintain its independent identity and continue to sponsor events, host networking meetings and serve the neighborhood. The association can raise its own funds for special events and business promotions. Programs such as the successful building facade improvement program, which has been sponsored by the Mayo Clinic, is in need of additional funding.

Industrial redevelopment on track

Pro-green rain water gardens ease environmental woes

by Pete Keith

Afer some delays, the latest version of a Master Plan and redevelopment template for 700 aging industrial acres of southeast Minneapolis and parts of western St. Anthony Park was unveiled to the public on March 15. After a long and extensive study, the comprehensive area plan is clearing the last hurdles toward final approval.

The SEED (South East Economic Development) a.k.a. SEMI (South East Minneapolis Industrial area) plan will function as a blueprint guiding the eventual conversion of the region's aging industrial land, to a variety of newer light industry and mixed-use developments. This redevelopment is expected to take many years, with parts of the area not likely to redevelop for at least 20 years.

The region covered by the plan encompasses the area west of Highway 280, from Karota to University Avenue, west toward the Mississippi. Historically, this area has been an industrial area of grain elevators, rail yards, and factories. Parts of the region have already undergone redevelopment, including Westgate in St. Paul, and along parts of Dinkytown Avenue and E Street.

The plan now calls for two new east-west roadways, one just to the north of the existing rail yards, and one just to the south. Linking the area from north to south are two new bridges over the railroads, one to the west and one to the east. The roadway plan is intended to allow better access to the full area via Karota and University Avenue to the south, and via a proposed extension of Kenmore Avenue to E Street at 73rd Avenue.)

meets on April 12

Plan on attending the St. Anthony Park Community Foundation’s (641-1455) annual meeting on Wednesday, April 12, 7-8:30 p.m., at the St. Anthony Park Branch Library. Presentations by 1999 grant recipients, a talk by John Adams on urban neighborhoods, and wine and dessert reception highlights the evening.

Green gardening workshop

The St. Paul Neighborhood Energy Consortium will offer two spring workshops on gardening and landscaping using Minnesota native plants. Native plants require no fertilizers and less water than non-native species.

Workshop participants will learn about the benefits of using native plants, receive nationally designed landscape plans that can be modified to fit your yards, and have an opportunity to order plants at reduced prices through the NEC.

Workshops will be held from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. The first one will be March 29 at the NEC office, 624 Selby Avenue. The second workshop will be held April 8 at the Hayden Heights Library, 1456 North White Bear Avenue.

Workshops are free, and child care is available upon request for children 2 years and older. However, space is limited, and pre-registration is required. Call the NEC at 221-4462 to register for a workshop.

Environmental committee supports personal rapid transit

The St. Anthony Park Community Council’s environment committee recently planted shrubs along the Highway 280 sound wall. On April 15, the committee will replant Konora Pond. The committee is also supporting the advocacy group, Taxi 2000, in its effort to acquire legislative funding for Personal Rapid Transit, a monorail-type transportation system that would be used in tandem with buses and possibly light rail transit.

The Community Council passed the recommendation of the Physical Planning Committee, which requested that a third building on the corner of University Avenue and LaSalle, one block east of Raymond Avenue, be built with three walls made of wood and the fourth wall of aluminum. The building will be of similar appearance to the other two buildings on that corner that were remodeled about 10 to 15 years ago. — John Marinos

A new water tank for St. Anthony Park

St. Anthony Park is getting a new water tank, which will hold 750,000 gallons, and is scheduled to be operational sometime between the summer and fall of 2001. “We got the most out of this tank,” said James Graupman, manager, Engineering Division, St. Paul Water Utility, who spoke at the St. Anthony Park Community Council town meeting on March 8 in the Murray Junior High Auditorium. “The neighborhood uses about 2.2 million gallons of water each day,” Graupman said. It gets its water from the State Fairgrounds tank, which holds 1.5 million gallons and the current tank, which holds 200,000 gallons. The existing tower, located on the corner of Cleveland and Dudley avenues, was built in 1914 and last repaired in 1982. It’s rusted to the point that it would be a hazard within five years, he said.

It will be torn down after this year’s State Fair, and the new 90-foot high spherical tower will be erected in the same spot. It will have a triangular-shaped base of 35 feet in diameter that would taper to 13-1/2 feet in diameter at about 33 feet up from the base. Unlike the current tower, which is surrounded by a barbed wire fence, the new tank will have landscaping around it. — John Marinos

Voter in SAP council election

St. Anthony Park residents go to the polls on Tuesday, April 11, when they select representatives to the community council. For too few exercise their voting rights. By sitting out the election you're declining to commit on the neighborhood's direction from parking crunches to park design. Representatives to the council, who act as liaisons to the St. Paul City Council, make monthly decisions that directly effect your workaday lives. South St. Anthony residents may choose two reps from a select crew of four. Meanwhile, there candidate stand unopposed in North. It's your choice, just make one.

Letters

Parking concerns

I am writing in response to a letter published in the March issue of Bugle regarding proposed parking restrictions. The letter was from Barker regarding a "friendly" parking restriction. I am one of a number of residents who petitioned neighbors to revise the existing permit parking regulations in our area of South Park. We proposed in our petitions that the regulations be changed in our immediate neighborhood to No Parking, 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., Monday through Friday, except by permit (Area 2). The streets that would be affected by this change are: Dudley from Cleveland to Chisumford, Raymond from (Dudley to Henderson), and Dudley from (Dudley to Buford), and Henderson from (Raymond to Chisumford). On March 8, the St. Anthony Park Community Council voted in support of these petitions. I wish to point out that this is not just a Dudley Avenue issue. Residents on Raymond, Hygea and Henderson, as well as Dudley, have joined together to support changes in the permit parking regulations. And support for this exceeds the 60 percent that was reported in the letter. On Dudley Avenue alone (between Cleveland and Chisumford), 90 percent of the households supported the petition 1 circulated, considerably higher than the 60 percent required minimum.

After putting up with the parking situation in front of our house for nine years, we have had enough. I am tired of friends and family not being able to park in front of our house. I have been tired of having my driveway blocked by inconvenient drivers who are late for their classes at the university and are unwilling to walk another block to the campus from an open parking spot. I am tired of having my garbage container hit by students attempt to back into my driveway to turn around and park on the sidewalk. I am tired of putting my children at risk when they are on the sidewalk. I am tired of students, blindly pulling into the driveway to turn around instead of going around the block. I am tired of having the new curbs in front of our house run over and parked cars on our pickup trucks. After going without much of a parking spot for several years, I am tired of seeing the new grass rapped up when drivers overstep the curb. At last possibility, I am tired of being taken advantage of. This change in parking regulations won't completely resolve the parking issues. We realize it is one step toward an overall solution that must include increased enforcement, more affordable on-campus parking, and a revision of how permits are issued to fraternities and sororities. However, if we don't take this first step the problem will only escalate. It is imperative that we work together with the City of St. Paul and the University of MInnesota to find a long-term solution.

There are a few individuals, outside of the affected area, who have characterized this as an unfriendly action toward students. I take exception to that. We are frustrated by their growing problem and we need relief. It seems to me that we have to put up with the unfriendly actions of student parks who routinely violate the current parking rules. Recently, the St. Paul Police Department discovered that one of the fraternities in our neighborhood had been fraudulently printing and issuing their own parking permits. As of this writing, seven cars using these permits have been impounded and the owners fined. I've reflected on steel fence posts to help students know how close they can park to the driveway and then watched as they have run them over, never bothering to get out of their cars to see what they've done. We've picked up trash and cleaned up their messes (one neighbor even going out with kitty litter to pick up off after one student decided to change his site on the street.

We live in a wonderful neighborhood and we want to take care of it. We are friendly people but we are not patricians.

Parking Avenue, just west of Cleveland, are as follows: parking only one side of the street from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. with the option for residents to buy a permit for their year. However parking in front of our own houses is still congested.

On work days, Dudley Avenue, located directly across from the St. Paul campus is monopolized all day long by cars belonging to students attending classes and to people using the gym. The latest petition initiated by Blaine Thrasher is to allow parking by permit only from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., Monday through Friday. That would give us some guest parking for meetings and other gatherings.

Even with this improvement, we will still have parking difficulties for the reason that fraternities in the region have many permits and some may be duplicated.

Residents here are merely trying to regain access to our own street. It is very apparent that, successful, will be of the most to all of us. I hope you wish to enjoy the benefits, to recommit to principles and follow the rules.

Dave Hansme and Karen Ulry

Landscape Park fine as is

I read the article in the February Bugle concerning thoughts to rework Landscape Park. I wish I could shout to Mayor Coleman, "It ain't broke! Don't fix it!"

My grandparents settled near Landscape in 1912. They bought a block of the park for the over 30 years. It is a plain and simple park... pretty much the same new as it was back then. That is what makes it such a unique place. It is peaceful, quiet, undisturbed. Unsurprisingly, this park is not "designed," each person that comes to it with his or her own vision of it. At my father, the old building was a sandbox. In his teens, he played on that. To me as a college student, the building was a quiet place to ponder life with friends.

As commercial redevelopment occurs in and around St. Anthony Park, I want to work with the Community Council to help preserve and enhance the diverse housing options, safe streets, pedestrian-friendly retail areas, attractive parks, and other qualities that make our neighborhood great. I currently serve on the St. Anthony Park housing and human services committee and South St. Anthony Park traffic safety task force. As a financial advisor and investment representative, I specialize in housing and economic development projects, a former St. Paul business liaison, a graduate of the Kennedy School of Government, and a new homeowner, I bring policy expertise, practical experience, and fresh ideas to the Community Council.

I’m completing my first year on the Council. As I believe to be true with any board seat, it has taken some time to understand the workings of the organization and its interactions with the City of St. Paul and the community-at-large. Now that I have gained this experience, I look forward to continuing my participation in what I hope and expect to be a meaningful manner.

The recent College Park playground controversy highlighted how deeply I care about this community, its members and its assets, both tangible and intangible. I have enjoyed the challenge of serving on the new playground committee and working with other neighbors to develop a compromise plan. As a course instructor and computer support person at the University, I have a strong customer service orientation and think I can be an effective representative for St. Anthony Park on other issues of impact. I am enthusiastic about the opportunity to continue serving the neighborhood and to be a steward for the whole community.

Alice Magnuson
Academic Advisor, Metropolitan State University

As an incumbent delegate to the Council I am amazed and impressed with the passion exhibited by St. Anthony Park residents. We have a unique, vibrant, and strong neighborhood because of this passion. We must maintain this passion as we look to the year 2000 and beyond. I am concerned about noise and transportation issues. These include Highway 280 traffic and increased airplane and helicopter flights, a growing truck industry and increased automobile traffic.

We desperately need senior housing to allow long-term residents to stay in the Park. I want to see small business growth to continue in the north and south St. Anthony Park and on University Avenue. I am a life long resident of the Park and care deeply about its future.

Theft, the act of stealing, is the highest reported crime in the neighborhood. Approximately half of these crimes are thefts from auto or of auto accessories. Here are some reminders to help you keep items safe in your vehicle:

- Never leave your keys in the car or in the ignition.
- Always lock the doors and close the windows, even in front of your home.
- Park in well lit areas.
- Put your valuables in the trunk before you reach your destination.
- Don’t leave items like purses, wallets, backpacks, gym bags, shopping bags, and jackets on the seat—these are all favorite targets of thieves.
- Store your cell phone and wallet in the glove compartment or under the seat.
- Don’t leave your keys in the car or in the ignition.

Thefts occur throughout the neighborhood. As the warmer weather returns, thieves find more opportunities to commit a crime. Be especially careful around the parks and commercial areas to prevent loss of these opportunities to thieves who may be looking for theft opportunities in these areas.

Kindergarten Round-up on April 6 at 6 p.m. is the traditional spring event when preschoolers begin the exciting transition to kindergarten. Children who will be five years old by September 1 are invited to attend a kindergarten Round-up at the school where they plan on attending. During the Round-up children and their parents meet teachers and principals, visit classrooms, and receive registration materials. Parents are asked to bring their child’s birth certificate and immunization record.

Kindergarten Round-up at St. Anthony Park Elementary (293-8735) is set for Tuesday, April 11, at 6 p.m. in the library. Meanwhile, SAP 5th graders pursue the environmental studies at Camp St. Croix from April 12 to 14. Children who want to train for the Melpomene Race on May 6 can join Running Club at its April 18 meeting in the gym.

On April 28, SAP students stage a Talent Show at Murray Jr. High. 7 pm. Families are invited to attend a special meeting of SAPSA on April 15. Beginning at 6:30 pm, Community Education will lead families in a craft activity, the business end of the meeting will follow.

Many families will fondly remember DeAnn Dack, kindergarten teacher for many years at SAP. She died February 19. See Obituary page 14.

Como Park Elementary (293-8823) is a Kindergartners Round-up on Thursday, April 18, from 6:30 to 8 p.m. Como will be offering an all day kindergarten program next year. Principal Mary Dyvig is pleased to report recent successes at Como due to its membership in the Midway Chamber of Commerce. Partnership with local business has created several programs that have made important contributions to the school. "Adopt-a-Classroom," sponsored by Support Our Schools founder Roger Bury, has donated money to classrooms. Businesses involved include US Bankcorp Piper Jaffray, Riverside Bank, and Western Bank. Como Northtown Community Credit Union Marketing Director, Aaron Kastner has been working with attendance liaison Judy Patrick to create a program that rewards perfect attendance.

Coached by Mr. Payne, Murray Junior High Science teacher, 37 Murray students and three Murray graduates participated in the Twin City Regional Science Fair on March 10 and 11. Seventeen students from the group won prizes at the Fair and will compete in the Minnesota Academy of Science State Fair. Murray also boasts a finalist in the National Geographic Spelling Bee. Nate Wells will be competing at Macalaster College on Friday, April 7.

Como Senior High Freshman Emily Lentsonnus and Anna Bishop from Central High presented an award winning team research project at the Regional Science Fair on March 10. The pair won the Kodak Award, the Army Award, and the Navy Award. They will be joined by Murray Jr. High alumnus and Highland Park High student Mark Galatsowich, who nabbed 12 awards for his project, going on to compete in Duluth, April 16-17. They will also go on to the Intel International Science and Engineering Fair (ISEF) in Detroit in May.

Chelsea Heights (293-8790) Kindergarten Round-up will be April 18. Sixth graders meet with middle school representatives on the morning of March 29 and sign up for next year’s classes.

Bromhall Elementary School’s (651-958) Kindergarten Round-up is set for Thursday, April 6, at 6:15 pm. The public is invited to celebrate the first annual International Festival on Friday, May 12 from 5:30 to 8 pm.

Architecture in the Grove
Thomas Fisher, dean of the University of Minnesota’s Architecture School, will present a slide tour of the architecture in the University Grove. Homes dating from the 1930s to present time will be included. University Grove has always been unique in requiring every house built, to be architect-designed. The area was laid out with houses backing onto large open-space commons in place of alleys. Details of life in every house has always been tightly controlled by the University, from the design of the houses to the occupational qualifications of the prospective buyers.

Ensemble on Sunday, April 16, 4 p.m. at St. Anthony Park United Church of Christ (2129 Commonwealth and Carter avenues). The concert showcases the American premier of a piece by Scott Johnson, plus Helmut Wierl’s Tanz und Maitone, Aaron Kernis’ The Four Seasons of Pastoral Cuisin, and Haydn’s Trio E Minor. A discussion with Kernis at 3:15 p.m. precedes the concert.

The Dakota Bar & Grill (1212 East Benden Boulevard; 642-1443) is bringing four national jazz performers to the neighborhood, beginning with the Tommy Flanagan Trio on April 3 to 5. The Marcus Roberts Trio takes centerstage on April 11 to 13 and the Michael Brecker Quartet featuring Larry Goldberg on April 17 to 18. The month concludes with a three-day run by the Dave Holland Quintet on April 24 to 26. For additional musical highlights check the bar’s web site at dakotajazzatxl.com.

The Como Park Conservatory (647-8200) swings on Thursday, April 6, 7–9 p.m., when vocal stylist Michael Perelin sings jazz and pop standards at Sinatra. Ella Fitzgerald, and Bobby Darin. Tickets cost 85.

Music in the Park Series Family Concerts 2000 (645-5699 tickets) presents Son Del Sur, traditional and new folk music from Latin America, at St. Matthew’s Episcopal Church (2126 Carter Avenue) 645-3058 and continues through April 17. This exhibit will also be featured adjunct to the Sunday, April 16 “Music in the Park” concert. On that day, the exhibit will be open from 3:30 to 6:30 p.m. Each of these professional artists developed their award-winning skills from different beginnings. Anders Himmelstrup is a professional graphic designer, having been trained in lithography in Copenhagen, Denmark. He is owner of Graphic Systems, Inc., but is moving toward a full-time career as a watercolor and acrylic artist.

Peg Housk is a retired teacher in learning disabilities for the St. Paul Schools and is now making watercolor painting her full-time career. She came to watercolor painting after experimenting with pottery, weaving, and drawing. She owned and operated the Spring Street Gallery in Stockholm, Wisconsin, for two years and has studied with both local and national teachers. Marjorie Moody, a California native, received her Bachelor of Fine Arts degree from the University of Minnesota and focuses her work in watercolor, gouache, and oil. Although she has travelled widely and finds inspiration in other cultures and peoples, she is often to be found painting on location in her own perennial garden.

Each artist displays a distinct style and a unique approach to the world around them. Himmelstrup favors abstracts, landscapes, people, and more recently, three-dimensional sculpture/painting — a bold technique combining watercolor and acrylic in combination with foam core. For him, spontaneity and mood are foremost. He enjoys both the process of creation and surprise at the outcome.

Housk brings strong colors, vivid light, and exuberant energy to her work. She wants each of her paintings to tell a personal story to the viewer. She paints a wide variety of subjects — floral, still life, seascapes, abstractions, and more recently, watercolor collage.

Meanwhile, Moody emphasizes color, rhythm and spontaneity in her work. With a fairly loose expressionistic style, she creates engaging landscapes, florals, abstractions, and human groupings. Her paintings affirm life, joy, freedom, beauty, and peace.

Exhibit hours are 9 a.m. - 1 p.m. and 6:30 - 9 p.m. on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays; 10 a.m. - 1 p.m. on Fridays. To arrange individual appointment call the church office at 645-3058 or Peg Housk at 645-4453.

U of M land use ... from page 1

Bob Baker, director, parking and transportation services at the university, talked about the university's efforts to encourage students to park in the large State Fairgrounds lot where it leases about 1,700 spaces. He said it costs students $36 a month, or $25.50 daily. Some residents said that was cost-prohibitive. Baker explained that the cost of parking to the university was not subsidized by education dollars not legislative funds.

The university is currently building a 750-space campus ramp on Glomer Avenue that is replacing a surface lot of 350 spaces. The ramp may cost about $55 to $60 per month and $3.50 per day during peak time. Baker said the university sent out a letter recently encouraging students to use the Fairgrounds lot.

"It was very effective," he said. "We saw an increase in parking in the Fairgrounds lot.

But some residents immediately stated that they, too, have recently seen an increase in parking on residential streets. One resident asserted that he sees only one-fifth of the lot being used.

McGovern is optimistic about solving the parking issue. "Now the university is making a concerted effort to talk to all of us." ■

The plan anticipates that most of the near-term redevelopment will occur in northern University Avenue south of University Avenue. The resulting increase in traffic in this area will be eased by the new north-south connection to Kasota and Highway 280 reports of Bill Smith of Biko Associates, one of the plan consultants.

A general concern with the increased development in the southern part of the SEED/SEMI area has been overlooking University Avenue with traffic. However, Smith further added that even in the highest density development scenario, the new roadways would be able to handle the increased traffic in the area without congesting University Avenue.

One of the more innovative aspects about the SEED/SEMI plan focuses on storm water management. Currently, runoff in the area flows through pipes directly into the Mississippi River. According to Bob Sykes of the Land and Water Design Institute, another of the plan contributors, the new plan calls for much of the street runoff to flow directly into the ground in a series of "rain gardens." He said the remaining runoff would flow into a series of holding ponds, which would be the centerpiece of a long, narrow park alongside the southern east-west roadway. From there, the water would discharge into the river, but of much higher quality than direct street runoff.

The runoff from many of the rooftops would be separately diverted into a "linear wetland" following the course of the original Brdl Ved Creek, a creek long since buried since the area was originally developed as the turn of the century.

The current plan represents the culmination of several year's efforts by a variety of agencies and consulting engineers and designers. Bob Sykes and Ellen Watters of St. Anthony Park have both served on the SEED Committee, helping guide the plan's evolution. Both have been pleased with how issues impacting St. Anthony Park have been incorporated into the plan. But Watters cautioned that "she's in the details." For example, the significantly higher traffic flow to Kasota and 280 will necessitate improvements to that intersection, a separate issue that will require approvals and funds from the city. ■ received Neighborhood Sales Tax Revenue of $18,000 in recent years, can continue.

Business Association members may take advantage of business networking, information and support from the larger Midway organization. The association will have its own regular news column in the Midway Chamber's monthly newsletter.

Most importantly, it means an end to what had become an ongoing struggle for staff time and resources. The business association has had three directors over the past four years. The job part-time status has made it a challenge to find and retain staff, especially important in the light of the strong local economy.

"It's the classic situation that small non-profits and community groups face," said accountant Catharine Heffernan, a past business association president. She and others note that the volunteer time and energy needed to raise funds to pay someone part-time detached from other activities for business association members. It also took time to repeatedly go through hiring processes for a director.

At its January membership meeting, St. Anthony Park Business Association received positive feedback from its Board of Directors.

"Ellen Watters has been phenomenal in helping the St. Anthony Park Business Association." — Paul Kirkgaard

Business Association members voted 20-1 to join the Midway Chamber. That vote has also meant changes in business association bylaws to allow for the Midway Chamber's support. The chamber and the business association began discussing options several months ago. Holtzclaw and other past professionals began discussing the need for changes as part of a nominating committee for business association officers. That led to discussion among the business association members about the need for fund-raising for staff, hiring staff and resources.

That's when Midway Chamber Executive Director Ellen Watters was asked to step in. Watters, who was St. Anthony Park Business Association Director for two years more than four years ago, worked with business association members to explore options and make the transition. St. Anthony Park has had a separate business association since the 1970s. Lifelong community resident and businessman Andy Boss notes that for many years, the business association was the St. Anthony Park Association's Governmental Committee. The neighborhood association got its start in 1947. ■

Uncover the alluring shopping secrets of University/Raymond district

by Jodie Maruska

With its soft yellow walls, high tin ceilings and comfortable furniture, the Prairie Star Coffeehouse (2599 University Avenue; 646-7827) spotlights locally roasted coffee, sandwiches, soups, and salads. Try the yummy Gemini Gourmet's ice cream at live music concerts, presented Thursday at 9 p.m., every Friday and Saturday.

The Minnesota Women's Press Book Shop and Library (771 Raymond; 646-3968) is celebrating its 15th anniversary. Buy Jane Hamilton's latest, an anthology of women's poems, or the wonderful On the Days you were Born. Make Oprah happy! Downstairs, the 8,000-volume library allows members to borrow for only $10 annually.

Fill your senses and find something new for your home at the Raymond Avenue Gallery (761 Raymond; 644-9200), a 14-year-old neighborhood tradition. Local artists rule, such as Warren MacKenzie (potter), Nancy MacKenzie (fiber artist), Joseph Brown (sculptor), Wayne Ponzani (sculptor), and Tim Lloyd (metalmith).

The Midwest Media Artists Access Center (MMAAC) (2388 University Avenue; 644-1912) offers film and video artists resources for high-quality equipment and facilities. Photographers may access the black and white dark room for just $5 per year. Major events include exhibits featuring grant winners in photography and film, and the December Film Slam which has people re-watching the ending of a favorite movie, or re-staging a famous photograph. Let's just say that last December, Dorothy did not get back to Kansas. Sweetcheeks (781 Raymond; 603-8778) offers "Mid-Century Miscellany" from retro furnishings to clothing, kitchenware, pottery, and games. Even the most traditional decorator can find a zingy twist here. For instance, buy a Chemex coffee maker from the 70s — yes, the same one Mary Richards used! You're going to make it after all — the coffee that is!

Walk into Chef's Tavern (791 Raymond; 646-2055) and you're immediately wrapped in delicious aroma! This intimate store-front restaurant is known for its savory pork loin, but cooks other treats such as a chicken pizza with rose apple puree, pancetta, oregano, and fontina. There are vegetarian offerings and a lighter spring menu is about to be introduced. Order a half-bottle from the extensive wine list and don't forget to ask about dessert. Take-out is also available.

To accompany that take-out, be sure to find a bottle of nice chardonnay from Sharrett's Liquor Store (2389 University Avenue; 645-8629). This family-run business features an especially good imported and specialty beer inventory and sells many "singles." If you can't get to them, they offer prompt delivery service with a smile!

Roasting Stones (2388 University Avenue; 644-1645) is where "coffee rocks and rolls." Sisters Mia and Angela Deeb's aim is to make every customer comfortable. Pair a cup of specialty coffee with a sandwich and soup or other goodies, and sit at one of their European-style tables, complete with table cloth and fresh flowers. Warm weather will bring outdoor seating.

Roll's Hardware (789 Raymond; 646-5408) is a 25-year-old family business. If owner Tom Garfield doesn't have what you're looking for — he'll track it down. Being in that bucolic Midland Graves salon — they fit appliances and even have a woodworker on staff who can assist you in furniture questions or repairs. These men could turn the most domineering malcontent into Martha Stewart!

Raymond Computer (795 Raymond; 642-9800) is just the spot to bring that old Commodore or Amiga computer that no one knows you still use. This two-person repair center specializes in older systems, but they can work on your new iMac II, and will even make a house call! While doing these fixing things, why not reshovel that old chair in the basement? Bergin Upholstery (797 Raymond; 642-1838) offers quality craftsmanship at a reasonable price. Their prompt and personal service means you can even shop within the comfort of your home. Who knows, now that you have a "new" chair, it may be time to update the sofa as well!

Meet area merchants: Sharrett's, Chef's, and Prairie Star.
